Celebration Of Life Canceled Due To COVID-19 The Cancer Memorial Park Founday years. It is planned and hoped that conto these necessary repairs. Memorial tion board is sorry to announce that we are unable to have our annual Celebration of Life this fall.

In addition to the complications resulting from the current COVID pandemic, we are getting ready to start major repair work in the park. The stone veneer that covers the landscape walls will need to be reattached due to damages that occurred over past winters' from freezing and thawing. The walls are being professionally repaired. The board is considering a new product that is guaranteed to last at least 25 struction will be completed sometime this fall.

The board members will be meeting soon to discuss possible alternative ceremonies and ways to recognize the loved ones memorialized in the park. If we are unable to come up with a feasible way to celebrate this fall, we will certainly look into possible activities to hold in conjunction with the Memorial Day Remembrance ceremony. Either way, we plan to continue our fall Celebration of Life next September, and hope you will bear with them as we see bricks and bench seats can be purchased at any time by visiting our website at www.cancermemorialpark.com, or by obtaining an order blank from the dispenser located right beside the park on the Bouquet Florist outer wall.

You may also call Karen Daffron at 573-470-1181 with any questions or concerns or to receive an order blank in the mail. Thanks for your understanding and patience, and please continue to support and pray for all who are fighting

Aug. 4 Election Trial Ends BRICE CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER "her client wanted a new election based"

Last week, The People's Tribune contained an article covering the lawsuit filed by Kristen Baker against the Pike County Clerk's office seeking a new election for the Aug 4 Republican Pri-

The suit was dropped only hours before early morning court hearing was scheduled to begin last Tuesday by Missouri's 12th circuit court judge Jason lamb.

Baker ran for the position of Pike County Assessor on the Republican Party's ticket in the Aug. 4 primary. She was defeated by the current Assistant Pike County Clerk Tracy Riffle-Foster by 499 votes.

After the election, Baker's attorney Angela Gabel efiled a lawsuit on Saturday, Aug. 22.

"The lawsuit against the Pike County Clerk's office was brought on behalf of all of the candidates and voters who believe the Clerks on the ballot should not runtheir own election," Baker stated. "While the lawsuit was brought in my name, it was a collaborative effort to fight on behalf of our election laws and to ensure the integrity of the election."

When The Tribune contacted Baker's attorney for further information and to confirm a previous statement that on a multitude of irregularities with the election," Gabel answered; "Yes, that is accurate." At the time, she was unable to further comment while she prepared for the upcoming trial.

However late Monday night before the hearing where Judge Lamb would be presented with evidence of Baker's claims, Gabel filed a motion for dis-

"I dismissed the lawsuit because I cannot bear the financial risk alone," Mrs. Baker continued. "Voters and candidates alike saw the clerks' actions and believe they are wrong. Still, I decided that this is better left to law enforcement to fix than for me."

In reference to Baker's financial risk, on Aug. 28th, Travis Elliot, the attorney representing the county in the case, made a motion requiring the posting of bond. Judge Lamb overruled the motion as it related to the pre-trial bond. However, as it related to the post-trial bond it would be taken along with the case.

Shortly after the trial was scheduled to start, Elliot released news that Mrs. Baker had filed for a dismissal of her

"The Pike County Clerk's office is pleased to announce that late Monday night, on Aug. 31, 2020, Contestant left off.

Kristen Baker filed a dismissal of her lawsuit seeking a new election for the Aug. 4, 2020, Republican primary election for Assessor," the statement read.
"The Pike County Clerk's office disputed the allegations described in Mrs. Baker's lawsuit and was prepared for trial. The Answer to the lawsuit filed on behalf of the Pike County Clerk's Office, Susie Oberdahlhoff, Tracy Riffle-Foster, and Laura Stumbaugh contended that there were not irregularities with the Aug. 4, 2020 primary election of a sufficient magnitude to cast doubt on the validity of the election."

Elliot went on to state that the Pike County Clerk, staff, and election workers make every effort to conduct elections with integrity and ensure that every qualified voter's vote is counted.

While there are challenges with every election, the Aug. 4 primary election was run fairly and the results reflected the votes cast by the citizens of Pike County," Pike County Clerk Susie Oberdahlhoff noted.

"I truly hope the Clerk's office understands how they've violated voters' trust and the integrity of the election," Mrs. Baker commented. "Now, I hope law enforcement will pick up where we

Bobby Boland Acquiring Vacant Dealership

BRICE CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER For 53-years, the name Tom Boland has been synonymous in the area with the Ford brand. That will soon come to change as the vacant, former Bowling Green Chevrolet becomes Boland Chevrolet. 'Its not good for the car industry as a whole or the area to see an empty lot right off the highway," Bobby Boland told The Tribune in an exclusive interview. Boland commented on how impressed he was after touring the facility.

Rumors have been swirling around what company would purchase the lot. Some of those may have been fueled by sightings of Boland. He told the Tribune that he's been spending a lot more time in Bowling Green visiting other establishments and working on the purchase

But Boland's visits extend beyond the dealership, he also has ties to the area. His father-in-law is none other than Bowling Green Basketball Head Coach Gene Hall who took the Bobcats to the 1962 state championships.

"Everyone has been really friendly and welcoming," he noted. "I've stopped in to visit several businesses here and people are always asking when we're going to open up."

Many may assume that as the owner of a multi-lot dealership, he's not willing or available to talk, but according to him, he's just another normal person.

While he enjoys talking with residents in the area but had to remain silent on the deal until they had met all the General Motors requirements.

The process of taking over the dealership took about four months in order to meet all those requirements.

"Part of it was them asking why a Ford guy for over 53-years wanted to sell Chevrolet products," Boland explained. "When my dad got into this business, there was only Ford, GM, Dodge, and couple others. These days, there's a lot more brands available. The dealershipin Bowling Green gives us a chance to diversify and expand."

The Bowling Green location will be the furthest south the Boland brand has stretched with the bulk of their dealerships in Quincy, Ill., and Hannibal.

Boland's team finally got approval last Thursday, Aug. 27 to release news of their purchase. They expect to finalize and close on the property Monday Sept.

David Buddemeyer who managed Bowling Green Chevrolet was taken by surprise when the dealership closed down. He now works for Boland as their general manager.

"How it went down, really left a bad taste in my mouth," he said. "It's not good for a community and the entire area to see a void like that.

He'll be heading up the move into the lot and expects the process to take around 90-days before the dealership is up and running. "We would like to be up by Dec. 1, but with everything going on, we can't promise it'll happen. There's a lotof things outside our control that influence

Currently, they need to make repairs and clean-up the facility before beginning the interviewing and hiring process.

People can expect to see cars back on the lot within that 90-day period.

Confessions Of A Killer

All But Motive Revealed In 1883 Pike County Murder Editor's note: This is the first in a hole near a pond on his farm in Indian Township south of Curryville.

two-part series by award-winning Louisiana author, journalist and public relations professional Brent Engel. A version of it originally appeared in his 2019 book "They Call Us Pikers," which is available for $40 by contacting the author at 573-

Four thousand people watched as a five-eights-inch rope was tightened around the neck of Samuel Wesley Collins.

With the victim's widow just a few yards away, the doomed man stepped onto a trap door cut into the floor of the platform. A black cap was placed over his head.

"Āre you ready, Mr. Collins?" asked Pike County Sheriff John

"I am, sir," came the answer. A moment later, the trap door opened and Collins was "swung into eternity," as one newspaper put it. Because the killer voluntarily confessed, there was no doubt about his guilt. The surprise was that just hours before being led to the gallows, Collins had talked candidly about the consequences of his crime. "His courage did not fail him even unto the last, and no man ever met death with more calmness than did the murderer of Owen Utterback," the Louisiana Journal said. The case provided plenty of suspense. The Louisiana Republican called it "one of the most coldblooded murders ever perpetuated in this state."

Collins, 23, shot Utterback at about 1 p.m. Monday, Sept. 24, 1883. Utterback, 35, was digging a

It was clear the crime was premeditated. Collins hid in a nearby cornfield after walking nine miles from his rural Middletown home. Newspaper accounts disagreed on a motive. Some said Utterback had slandered Collins' wife. Others said a botched farming agreement led to a dispute between the men.

Collins fired one shot from a rifle, which struck Utterback in the left part of his chest. The wounded man managed to stagger 10 feet before collapsing. A hired hand summoned the victim's wife, Mary Alice Cushman Utterback.

"As she bent over him, she states that he raised up on his elbow and attempted to speak, but fell lifeless without uttering a word," the Republican reported.

Utterback was a "prosperous and highly esteemed" farmer, the Mexico Ledger offered. He had 11 siblings and quite a number of additional family in the area. Collins was tracked down and held for authorities. The newspaper couldn't help but use a euphemism for hang-

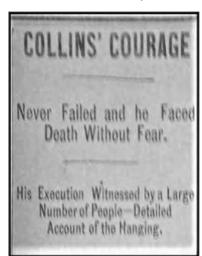

"The whole neighborhood is worked up to a high state of excitement, and it is thought by many that if Collins is found guilty of the crime Judge Lynch will take a hand in the matter," it said.

An unidentified Republican reporter arrived before deputies and began an inquiry.

'His answers to our questions were very evasive and brief," the reporter said.

Collins denied knowledge of the murder and said he had been hunting, firing his gun once at a hawk and a second time at a duck. However, he did admit having a "little trouble" with Utterback in an unspecified settlement, but "would not state what the trouble was.'

Collins was described as being of medium height and 140 pounds, with dark hair and blue eyes.

The Republican said he had "a quiet disposition, and was not supposed to be dangerous." The reporter said one of Collins' boots was an "exact" match for a print found at the crime scene.

"With these facts, there is scarcely a doubt in the minds of the people to the identity of the murderer," the paper added.

A six-man coroner's jury wasn't so sure. It ruled Utterback had died "from a gunshot wound by unknown hands."

Collins was put in the Pike County Jail at Bowling Green, but on Dec. 30, 1883, he was part of an escape attempt. Iron bars were removed from cell doors and a large hole was cut in the floor. The effort was discovered and Collins was transferred to the Audrain County Jail in Mexico. He would get three

The first, in March 1884, ended in a hung jury. The panel "failed to agree on a verdict" after more than 12 hours of deliberation, the Riverside Press of Louisiana observed. The first vote featured eight for conviction and four against.

There was no change from this until they were finally discharged by the court," the Press said.

Six months later, another jury convicted Collins of first-degree murder and a hanging was scheduled. But there was a catch. One juror had gone home because he had a sick child. The defense asked for a new trial, but the judge denied it.

The Journal correctly surmised that the case would be appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court, but "it is by no means likely that the tribunal will reverse the findings of our circuit court, and the probabilities are that (Collins) will certainly enter the spirit land." On that one, the newspaper was wrong. The high court ordered a new trial.

"It is hardly likely that the prisoner will ever be hung," the Press lamented.

However, Collins was found guilty at the third trial and an execution was set. He appealed again to the Supreme Court, but "the grounds were not sufficient to grant a new hearing," The Quincy Daily Whig

The hanging was scheduled for Wednesday, July 29, but a monthlong stay was provided while Gov. John Marmaduke was asked if additional court action was needed. He decided it was not. The new execution date was Friday, Aug. 28.

'Pike County needs an example of this kind, as there are too many men running at large with pistols and other deadly weapons concealed about their persons, and, if the law is pronounced a dead letter on this score, no one can feel safe," the Journal editorialized. "We do not wish to be understood to be crying down our county, but what we have intimated above is also true of other localities, where murderers are allowed to escape the punishment they so justly deserve, through the instrumentality of money and influential

Collins was defended by a 33year-old Bowling Green lawyer named Champ Clark, who "deserves great credit for the management of the case," the Press noted.

Collins' wife appealed again for a commutation, but Marmaduke was by then out of state and Lt. Gov. Albert Morehouse declined to get involved.

The only thing Collins had left now was his own voice, and he would use it in an extraordinary deathwatch interview.

Next time: "While there's life, there's hope.'

Dahlias Dazzle In Early Fall Unlike many garden flowers that begin Prepare soil with a garden fertilizer high to lose their luster as summer fades into fall, dahlias are at their best in early autumn, said University of Missouri Extension horticulturist David Trinklein. The warm days and cool nights cause dahlias to bloom with intense, dazzling color.

This popular flower is most spectacular in September, said Trinklein. "Gardeners who do not already grow them should start planning now in order to enjoy dahlia's impressive show of color next year," he says.

A member of the aster plant family, dahlia is the national flower of Mexico, where Aztecs were growing it when Spanish conquistadors arrived in the 16th century.

Most people think of dahlia as the tall types propagated from tuberous roots. "The majority of named dahlia cultivars are of this type," Trinklein said. "They are popular for the cutting garden or the backdrop of borders." However, because of its tall stature and large flowers, this type of dahlia needs staking or additional support.

Dwarf dahlias propagated from seed have grown in popularity in recent years. These dahlias produce large numbers of small flowers on bushy plants and are cultured like bedding plants. This makes them ideal for annual beds or fronts of borders. Plant dahlias where they will receive at least six to eight hours of direct sun and are protected from high winds. Plant tuberous roots of large types of dahlias about 14 days before the frost-free date for an area. Do not set out plants started indoors until the danger of frost passes. Dahlias cannot endure freezing temperatures.

Dahlias grow well in fertile, well-drained garden soils high in organic matter. If soil lacks organic matter, add up to 4 inches of well-rotted manure, compost or other forms before planting.

in phosphorus and potassium but low in nitrogen, such as 5-10-10. Incorporate about one-half cup in a 2-foot circle where each plant is to be located. Top dress with an equal amount of fertilizer in July. Dahlias grow quickly and need large amounts of water. Keep soil moist but not wet.

Dahlias benefit from pruning. The amount of pruning depends upon the flower's intended use. Prune exhibition-type flowers to one main stem. Pinch plants for lavish garden display after first growth in the spring reaches a height of about a foot. A second pinch after emerging shoots achieve a length of 1 foot delays flowering but makes for a more spectacular display late in the growing season.

Two foliage diseases that affect dahlia are Botrytis blight (gray mold) and powdery mildew. Avoid these diseases by strict sanitation, proper site selection and keeping foliage as dry as possible. Fungicides containing thiophanate methyl also provide effective disease prevention.

If saving dahlia's tuberous roots from year to year, some viral diseases such as dahlia mosaic can occur. Sanitation, insect control and selection of tolerant cultivars control these.

Dahlias do not tolerate frost at this latitude. Dig roots and store each fall after the tons have died back. After digging, gently wash off remaining soil and allow roots to dry. However, do not dry them in direct sunlight. Next, separate the tuberous roots by cutting them from the main stem. Allow the portion of the stem attached to the part containing the "eyes" to remain. Dust cut ends with a fungicide to discourage storage dis-four board members to CREC's Board of Directors and approved two bylaw propositions at their annual meeting on Thursday, Aug. 27, held at the co-op's branch office in Lake St. Louis.

In the four districts with seats open, three incumbents who chose to run for re-election were selected by members for new three-year terms, continuing their service to the cooperative. One new director was elected in Lincoln County District 1 as the incumbent, Troy Galloway, chose to not run for re-election this

The Lincoln County District 1 winner was Mike Cherry, who officially began his first term with the board at their regular monthly meeting, which immediately followed the annual meeting. In Warren County District 3, Phil Dunk was re-elected. Denise O'Mara, was re-elected to St. Charles County District 4. Finally, Ted House was re-elected to St. Charles County District 5.

CREC members also voted on two bylaw changes. Proposition A amended the bylaws to reduce the percentage of member signatures needed for nominations to the board of directors by petition. Proposition B amended the bylaws to change notification requirements of unclaimed capital credit monies. Both propositions passed.

This year's election brought in a total of 1,856 votes, which includes 1,852 votes from paper ballots and online voting prior to CREC's annual meeting on August 27. Only four ballots were cast on site at the meeting.

Election results were announced at the annual meeting, which was streamed live on the co-op's YouTube channel. A recording of the broadcast is available on CREC's YouTube channel https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=

From The Mayor's Desk..

I hope everyone had a fun and safe Labor Day weekend! Many do not realize this holiday was created by the "labor" movement in the late 19th century and became a federal holiday in 1894. It was to recognize the contributions and achievements of the American workers. Many thanks to those who have gone CITY OF BOWLING GREEN before us and set a standard of work ethics that have been passed on to generations of Americans with their workmanship and creativity. I would like to mention that our Bowling Green Aldermen and women have been laboring very hard and putting in long hours, along with your city administrator and bookkeeper, to be wise managers of your tax dollars and spending conservatively to care for and upgrade your city. Much of the revenues go toward items you can't see like water and sewer lines.

Previously, I mentioned that we would be providing information about city codes and ordinances. The city council is working to review these and they will then be submitted to our city attorney for review. After that, I'll be putting them in my weekly article.

I would like to welcome Jim and Mari Blossom of McCoy-Blossom Funeral Home to Bowling Green. They have built a beautiful facility on Business 61. Other local businesses to highlight are: The Golden Ruler Inc. (which does promotional solutions, custom apparel, engraving, and office furniture) and Howard Street Dance and Acrobatics (working with our future dancers and gymnasts). Now that our City swimming pool is closed the Twin Pike YMCA is a greatplace for fitness and family fun. Their number is 573-754-4497. Thanks, also, to the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce for reaching out and supporting our local businesses.

Many studies are being done on rural America. The North East Community Action Corporation (NECAC) recently published Rural Housing Assessments via a grant they received. They found that more home buyers are looking to move to rural or suburban areas. Our neighborhoods and life styles are more attractive now that commute times are no longer a major factor for many. NECAC has opened the doors in communities where people can buy their own homes who thought they would never be homeowners. They also offer many free programs to help and assist in a variety of areas. Other studies have revealed "values of faith and hard work" is more present in rural America. The importance of carrying on agriculture from generation to generation has been an area of emphasis in these

I am pursuing a grant for broadband to rural areas which would give more access to the Internet and make it easier for education and rural America to compete in today's economy. This means federal funding so broadband development would have reliable speeds for current and future demands.

Bowling Green is strategically located for highways, rail and water ways, plus airport transportation. Geneva A. Wiss Geneva A. Wiss, 94, of Hawk Point died Monday, Aug. 31, 2020 at Lincoln County Nursing and Rehab in Private visitation was held Saturday from 2-3 p.m., at McCoy-Blossom Funeral Homes & Crematory in Troy.

Private funeral services were also held Saturday at 3 p.m., at the funeral home. The Rev. Dr. Jeff Moore offici-

She was born Nov. 23, 1925 in Calhoun County to Albert and Rosa Kulp Nolle. Geneva met her husband Donald in Pendleton when he was working on her aunt's farm. They were married on June 3, 1950 in Batchtown, Ill., at the Batchtown Methodist Church. To this union were born three children: Muriel, Robert and Albert.

Geneva was an excellent homemaker and also helped run the feed store, along with Donald. She had a green thumb and always had a beautiful flower and vegetable garden. She enjoyed sewing, crocheting and all kinds of crafts. In the fall, Geneva would get out the big copper kettle and they would make apple butter.

She is survived by two children, Muriel Martin and husband, Rodney of Vandalia, and Albert Wiss and wife, Debbie of Hawk Point; four grandchildren, Craig Martin, Scott Martin and wife, Jennifer, Amanda Klass and husband, David, Katie Henke and husband, Aaron; and one great-grandchild, Justin Durham. She is further survived by her brothers, Roland Nolle and Kenneth Nolle, both of Alton and many nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Donald Wiss of 67 years, her parents, a son, Robert Lee Wiss; one sister, Virginia Krause and husband, Robert, sisters-in-law, Jean Nolle and June Nolle.

Memorials may be made to the Hawk Point Community Church or Hawk Point City Cemetery c/o McCoy-Blossom Funeral Homes & Crematory 1304 Boone Street Troy, MO 63379

Funeral services were Friday at 11 a.m., at Grand View Funeral Home in Hannibal. The Rev. Milton Baumgardner officiated.

Delores was born Dec. 21, 1937, to Phillip F. and Lucile Hulse Wilhelm in Pike County. After the death of her mother, she and her sister, Doris were raised by Phillip and Irene Wilhelm, who also preceded her in death.

Delores grew up in Hannibal, graduating from Hannibal High School and Hannibal-LaGrange College. For many years she worked for the Hannibal Gas Company.

Most recently, Delores was living at Richmond Terrace in Richmond Heights, where she was a favorite with the staff, always giving out her famous hugs. One of her favorite pastimes was doing jigsaw puzzles and she put together many over the years.

She and Doris would not have had such wonderful care over these last years were it not for the dedicated attention of Jim and Valerie Cooper.

Delores is survived by a twin sister, Doris, who still resides at Richmond Terrace; and by cousins, Janet Sellers Dickman and Kim Sellers Ferguson.

Condolences may be sent to Doris at Richmond Terrace, 1633 Laclede Station Road, Richmond Heights, MO 63117.

The family requests no flowers. Memorials maybe sent to Lutheran Senior Services Benevolent Care, 723 S. Laclede Station Road, St. Louis, MO, 63119.

Gary graduated from Bowling Green High School and went on to further his education in criminal justice at Northeast Missouri State University (Truman State) Kirksville and later received a business degree from Hannibal-LaGrange College and a master degree in business from William Woods University-Fulton.

He worked as a police officer in Bowling Green in the 70's and in the Oklahoma oil fields in the early 80s. Most of his life was spent working in insurance sales and for a few years before retirement he was a business teacher at William Woods University-Fulton.

Gary was very active in the Frankford community, serving as municipal judge and later as mayor. When time was allowed, Gary enjoyed traveling, reading, playing guitar and listening to 60's and 70's rock music. He also enjoyed painting, watching movies and the companionship of his dog "Dakota". Gary especially cherished time spent with family and friends.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Hannibal Band Boosters or Tri-County Alliance for Unmet Needs, c/o Smith Funeral Home & Chapel in Hannibal.

Jalin L. Neff

Jalin L. Neff, 21, of Hannibal died Saturday, Aug. 22, 2020.

Funeral services were at 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 29 at James O'Donnell Funeral Home in Hannibal. Pastor Michael Neff officiated. Burial was at Greenwood Cemetery in Palmyra.

Friends and family were invited to Jalin's Life Celebration at a visitation from 4-7 p.m., Friday, Aug. 28 at the funeral home.

Jalin was born Sept. 24, 1998 in Columbia to Daniel J. and Robby L. Gower Neff.

Survivors include his parents of Hannibal; a brother, Jamie L. Neff of Hannibal; and two sisters, Taylor D. Neff of Hannibal, and Heather Ames and husband, Michael of New London; grandparents, Linda Gower Bogue of Bowling Green, RayC Gower and wife, Brenda of Farber, and Barb Neff of Hannibal. Jalin is also survived by numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

Jalin is preceded in death by his grandfather, Daniel L. Neff.

He worked as an operator at General Mills in Hannibal.

Away from work Jalin loved to play golf. Over the years he also enjoyed hunting and fishing. Cardinals baseball, video games and a good steak were a few of Jalin's favorites. His pride and joy was his red GMC Sierra pickup truck that he always enjoyed driving. Most of all Jalin cherished the moments he shared with his family and friends.

Pallbearers were Tyler Elledge, Shay Elledge, Bryce Pryor, Nick Nichols, Anthony Crea, and Chandler Moffitt. Honorary pallbearers were Shamar Griffith, Noah Zahn, Jason Emerson, Jacob York, and Toby To-opening for archery season on Tuesday, Sept. 15 and for firearms portions in the coming months, the Missouri Department of Conserva-(MDC) wants hunters, landowners, and others to know key information about chronic wasting disease (CWD) and the Department's related efforts to limit the spread of CWD in Missouri deer by finding new cases as early as possible and slowing its spread to more deer or more areas.

CWD MANAGEMENT ZONE

MDC has a CWD Management Zone consisting of counties in or near where CWD has been found. The CWD Management Zone for this year includes these counties: Adair, Barry, Cedar, Chariton, Christian, Clark, Crawford, Gasconade, Hickory, Franklin, Howell, Jefferson, Knox, Linn, Macon, Mercer, Oregon, Ozark, Perry, Polk, Putnam, St. Charles, St. Clair, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Stone, Sullivan, Taney, Warren, and Washington.

VOLUNTARY CWD SAMPLING ALL SEASON STATEWIDE

MDC will again offer statewide voluntary CWD sampling and testing of harvested deer during the entire deer season at select locations throughout the state. Sampling and test results are free. Participating hunters can get test results for CWD-sampled deer online at mdc.mo.gov/CWDTestResults within weeks after the sampling

MDC reminds hunters, meat processors, taxidermists, and others of new regulations now in effect regarding transporting deer, elk, and other cervid carcasses into Missouri and within the state, and of new regulations on cervid-carcass-disposal requirements for meat processors and taxidermists.

Regulation changes for hunters who harvest deer in Missouri from a CWD Management Zone county •Deer harvested in CWD Management Zone counties must be telechecked before any parts of the carcass may be transported out of the county of harvest.

•Whole carcasses and heads of deer harvested in CWD Management Zone counties may only be transported out of the county of harvest if delivered to a licensed meat processor or taxidermist within 48 hours of exiting the county of har-

•The following carcass parts may be moved outside of the county of harvest without restriction: •Meat that is cut and wrapped or that has been boned out;

•Quarters or other portions of meat with no part of the spinal column or head attached;

•Hides from which all excess tissue has been removed;

•Antlers or antlers attached to skull plates or skulls cleaned of all muscle and brain tissue; and •Finished taxidermy products.

Regulation changes for hunters bringing deer and other cervids into Missouri from another state are:

 Hunters may no longer transport whole cervid carcasses into the state.

•Heads from cervids with the cape attached and no more than six inches of neck in place may be brought into Missouri only if they are delivered to a licensed taxidermist within 48 hours of entering Missouri.

•There is no longer a requirement that cervid carcass parts coming into the state be reported to the MDC carcass transport hotline. •The following cervid parts can be transported into Missouri without restriction: •Meat that is cut and wrapped or that has been boned out; Quarters or other portions of meat with no part of the spinal column or head attached; •Hides from which all excess tissue has been removed; •Antlers or antlers attached to skull plates or skulls cleaned of all muscle and brain tissue; •Upper canine teeth; and •Finished taxidermy products. Regulation changes for taxidermists and meat processors are: •Taxidermists and meat processors throughout the state are required to dispose of deer, elk, and other cervid parts not returned to customers in a sanitary landfill of transfer station permitted by the Missouri Department of Natural Re-•Proof of disposal (such as receipts from a trash pick-up service, landfill or transfer station) must be retained for 12 months for meat processors and for three years for taxidermists.

CHECK WITH DEER PROCESSORS

MDC encourages hunters who will have deer professionally processed to check with meat processors regarding their availability to process harvested deer. Some meat processors around the state are reporting higher-than-normal business and may not be accepting deer for processing or will have significant delays in processing deer.

SHARE THE HARVEST

Missouri's Share the Harvest program helps deer hunters donate venison to those in need. To participate, take harvested deer to an approved meat processor and let the processor know how much venison is to be donated.

Deer harvested within the CWD Management Zone may only be donated to approved processors in the Share the Harvest CWD Testing Program. Deer harvested outside of the CWD Management Zone may be donated to any Share the Harvest processor. Learn more online at mdc.mo.gov/share or from MDC's 2020 Fall Deer and Turkey Hunting Regulations & Information booklet.

For deer that were sampled for CWD before being taken to an approved processor for donation, present the CWD barcode number provided at the sampling station to the processor as proof of sampling. If a sample has not been collected before donation, the processor will collect the sample or remove the head and submit it to MDC for sam-

MDC OFFERS VIDEOS ON QUARTERING DEER

For more information on how to quarter a harvested deer using the "gutless method," watch the MDC https://youtu.be/m6Pxo0wOHxk. For information on traditional field dressing, watch the MDC video at https://youtu.be/67_GqoBLxlc. More on CWD

CWD is a deadly disease in white-tailed deer and other members of the deer family, called cervids. The disease has no vaccine or cure and eventually kills all cervids it infects. The infectious prions that cause CWD are most concentrated in the spines and heads of cervids. Moving potentially infected cervid carcasses out of the immediate areas where they were harvested and improperly disposing of them can spread the disease. MDC has established a CWD Management Zone consisting of counties in or near where CWD has been found.

There have been no reported cases of CWD infecting people, but the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) strongly recommends having deer tested for CWD if harvested in an area known to have the disease. The CDC also recommends not eating meat from animals that test positive for CWD.

Get more information on CWD regulations and other CWD information online at mdc.mo.gov/CWD, or from MDC's 2020 Fall Deer and Turkey Hunting Regulations & Information booklet, available where permits are sold and online at huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/fall-deer-andturkey-hunting-regulations-and-info rmation.

Be Focus Of MDC Virtual Program Wildlife Diets Will

Crickets, worms, and minnows may not sound like an appetizing meal to humans but these are all choice munchies for reptiles, amphibians and fish. Learning what an animal eats can provide interesting insights into how it lives.

People wanting to learn more about animal appetites can get information at the Missouri Department of Conservation's (MDC) free virtual program "Feeding Frenzy." This online program will be 1-2 p.m. Sept. 10 and is being put on by the staff of MDC's Cape Girardeau Conservation Nature Center. This program is open to all ages. People can register for this program at: https://mdc-event-web.s3licensing.com/Event/EventDetails/174212

Program participants will see the animals that are housed at the nature center get fed by Cape Nature Center volunteers. While these animals gobble up a smorgasbord of their favorite foods, their eating habits will be discussed. Though this program is free, registration is required to participate using the Crickets may not appeal to human appetites, but they're tasty morsels for a number of animals. People can learn more about what animals eat at the free Missouri Department of Conservation virtual program "Feeding Frenzy" on Sept. 10.

Siblings From St. Louis Visit Louisiana To See Murals

Stan and Barbara Ehinger of history as there isn't any signage ex-Louisiana were out for their daily ride recently to the riverfront when they passed by The Bank of Louisiana and spotted a man and a woman in the parking lot looking at the mural of John Brooks Henderson.

The Ehingers drove into the parking lot and introduced themselves and Barbara mentioned that she had painted the mural. The couple were pleased to meet the artist and appreciated the Ehingers stopping.

The couple, Ricky Roby and his sister, Evonne Wiggins live in St. Louis and love to travel the United States, but due to COVID-19, decided to stay close to home and visit neighboring cities.

They had heard about the murals in Louisiana and when they saw the John Brooks mural were interested and wanted to know more about the plaining the story. Stan and Barb not only explained the history, but took them around Louisiana showing them the sculpture of John Brooks Henderson at Henderson Park plus showed them other murals and explained the story behind these historical murals.

They were quite impressed with Louisiana and took many pictures. They plan to return and bring other family. The Ehingers felt an immediate warmth from them and feel they will always have a connextion with this wonderful couple. The only thing they regret said the Eingers is the fact of no signage explaining the history of each mural.

They have had family here recently visiting the murals and they also commented on the lack of explanation but all loved what they saw.

BOWLING GREEN VOLLEYBALL

Coach Jill Dotson

LADY CATS LOOK FOR WINS WITH QUICKER REACTIONS

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER

Jill Dotson steps back onto the court again this season as the head coach for the Lady Cats volleyball program. This year, she has a new assistant coach, Hannah Spoonhower.

The Lady Cats are coming off a 5-19 season last year which echoed 2018's 5-16-3 season.

With a roster of 18 players, Coach Dotson has made a few changes to improve on previous seasons and feels that it shows in the team's speed and communication.

"When we communicate, we play to our full potential," Dotson noted. "We react quicker, we cover more ground, and our offense and defense run smoothly. I am impressed with how well we have progressed for the beginning of the season. I give credit to the girls who came in and worked out over the summer. It has made each individual stronger and in turn, has improved our team."

A change outside of the team is also going to become a major factor for how they play. Dotson noted the team has been conditioning and preparing for the new varsity format of playing best 3/5 sets. "We know this is a huge change and are diligently preparing for the new format."

"We are strong all the way around the court this year," When asked what about the team's strengths, Coach Dotson explained. "We have switched to a 5-1 offense allowing us to have more swings at the net. We have great team chemistry and the willingness to adapt to change."

Coach Dotson sees adapting to the new offense at the varsity level as one of the biggest challenges this year along with younger players. "We are a young team and have no seniors this year."

Despite those challenges, the team is determined to take to the court.

"Every day we are growing more confident as a team and as individuals," Dotson said. "This team communicates well with each other on and off the court. They enjoy each other's company, and the upper classmates schedule team bonding events."

Coach Craig Smith

LADY CATS STEP UP TO THE PLATE WITH A NEW HEAD COACH

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER

The Bowling Green Lady Cats start off a new season with a new head coach. Craig Smith looks to continue the Lady Cats have earned over the past several seasons with Coach Dean Streed.

Streed led the Bowling Green team to back-to-back state championships in 2017 and 2018. Last year, they ended the season by taking second place in Districts with a 21-7 record. The 2019 team lost some key players who participated in the championship runs.

But Coach Smith isn't exactly new to the players; "I have had most of these girls in basketball, but the diamond is a little different," he explained. "I think the biggest thing is just me learning the girls and the girls learning my style of coaching and relationship building."

He also credits Coach Hickerson as a "huge" advantage in overcoming some of the adjustments. "She knows these girls and has helped me in getting to know them."

Smith went on to explain how this year's roster is different when asked how the team was progressing and adjusting to the new coaching staff.

"It has been a smooth transition overall," Coach Smith explained. "Our summer contact days were used to just get to know each other and for me to understand what each of these girls could do on the softball diamond. The first two weeks we really got everyone on the same page as far as practice expectations and the getting the freshman up to speed on game expectations. We are very top heavy with five seniors and seven juniors who have been a part of some big games in their careers and so they are being relied upon heavily for on field leadership and practice expectations."

When it comes to hitting, Coach Smith believes it's one of the team's strengths. "We can flat out "crank" the ball as the girls call it. Our lineup has some heavy hitters who can do damage to all parts of the field and just the fact that we are so top heavy with juniors and seniors mainly in key defensive spots. All our defends have plus arms and our outfield have some of if not the best - arms in this area."

But as with any team, there are always areas to improve. "We are never satisfied," Smith noted. "I think the girls understand that seasons eventually come to an end, but this year is a little different with the landscape of the times. They come in with the approach to get better every pitch, every game, and every day. We want to be better than the previous day. I feel we need to work on our attitudes and feelings when we make mistakes or have bad at bats or we are not as successful as we think we should be. Each girl has to find a way to suppress those demons and find the positive of their situations."

CLOPTON SOFTBALL

Coach Tony Francis

YOUNG LADY HAWKS AIM FOR CHAMPION CALIBER

Coach Tony Francis starts his third year as the Clopton Lady Hawks head coach following a 4-14 season last year. The team is looking to work its wayback to district champions just two years ago in

"Practices are going well," Coach Francis noted. "The young ladies are working hard, and I see the older players taking it upon themselves to try and improve their mental toughness."

Francis also noted how the four seniors Brooklynn McKenney, Caragan Lockard, Mary Garrett, and Logan Hall are stepping up to the plate as team leaders. "They are emphasizing team unity and chemistry, while competing on a daily basis against their sisters."

So far, hard work and teamwork are making up some of the team's strengths. "Work-ethic and a willingness to set aside selfish desires for the good of the team," Francis explained. "We have potential to be a very competitive team, but I've always hated the word potential as it demonstrates you haven't accomplished anything yet."

But that doesn't mean Coach Francis is going to ease up on the team. "Everything," he responded when asked what the team needed to work on. "In prioritizing that list, I would say confidence is number one. We need to improve on skills, but that improvement can happen at a much faster pace once we get to the point where we are not worried about what others think about us when we fail."

Like several programs this year, Coach Francis has a younger team. "Of our 17 players, 11 are sophomores and freshmen. We will be young and as coaches,we have to make sure we are placing our youth in a position where they do not get too overwhelmed in the moment, this hurting our confidence."

Coach Kelsea Dorsey

TENACITY & CONFIDENCE KEYS TO LADY BULLDOGS SUCCESS

This season's Lady Bulldogs team are ready to prove themselves after working hard in the preseason.

The Louisiana team is looking to break past last season's 6-13 record. The Lady Bulldogs haven't won more than six games since 2016's 15-8season. This might be the year it happens. Head Coach Kelsea Dorsey has a roster of 14 players – seven of which are sophomores this year.

"We are getting more comfortable around each other and building our team comradery," Dorsey answered when asked how the team was progressing. "We have a lot of young players this year, with only 5 returning, so we have been getting the younger kids used to the flow of practices and the lingo used for communication. The kids have adapted really well, and it makes for an exciting year and excitingfuture."

Despite having loss some experienced players last graduation, Dorsey told the Trib how the returning players are stepping up. "Strengths I see so far would have to be our willingness to ask questions and the want to get better. We are a very young team, so my older girls (Jaidyn Wommack, Tatum De-Priest, Emma Inglis) have been a great help in showing the younger ones how things should be done. We have a lot of tenacity that again makes for an exciting year and an exciting future. Those are qualities you want your team to have."

A younger team working on building a stronger future may come with some challenges as they work on confidence.

"Again, we are a young team, so we definitely need mental toughness because 14-year-olds playing against 18-year-olds is a whole new ballgame," Dorsey noted. "We have to figure out ways to stay positive/keep our teammates positive when the going gets tough. The girls have to be as confident in themselves and their teammates, as much if not more than Coach Long and I are in them. Being mentallytough, positive, and confident can take teams a long way."

Staying positive is one of the coaching staff's key factors if the Lady Bulldogs want to break beyond the six-win streak.

"Coach Long and I are super excited for this season," Dorsey continued. "The girls have been putting in the work all summer long with practices and being in the weight room. I feel this is a positive thing for all kids to experience amidst all the chaos going on in the world."

LADY OWLS FOCUS ON CHAMPIONSHIPS

Coach Rebecca Lipsey and the Silex Lady Owls are making great strides so far this year to regain the title of district champs. The Lady Owls Are coming off a 11-10 season and taking second place in their district.

We lost two players to graduation last year, Chloee Kinion (1st Team All-Conference and All- District) and Emily Weatherford." The team has needed to adjust after losing those key players but have several who are capable of stepping into key roles this season.

"Key returning players is senior Lexi Plackemeier (1st Team All-Conference, All-District, 1st Team All- Region) she is our leader,'

PERKINS

Lipsey explained. "Last year Lexi lead us in batting average .521, hits 38, runs scored 28, stolen bases, and 2nd on the teamin RBI's with 16. Defensively she had a .959 fielding percentage playing shortstop."

The Lady Owls also have some experienced juniors returning. "Taylor Howard (1st Team All-Conference, All-District, 2nd Team All-Region) was our ace in the circle last year with 128 strikeouts. Carson Harlan (2nd Team All-Conference, All-District) lead us inRBIs with 19. Gwen Gilbert has improved greatly over the summer and expect to see big things from her in the outfield and at the plate.

"The team has made great strides in our practices so far," Coach Lipsey noted when asked how the team was progressing. "The girls are picking up on things quickly due to their focus and intensity."

As for their strengths so far, Coach Lipsey believes it's their speed and leadership. While she noted they need work on hitting in pressure situations.

LADY INDIANS FOCUS ON GETTING BACK ON THE DIAMOND

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER Despite setbacks COVID-19 Van-Far Coach Kelly Borchert and the Lady Indians softball team are determined to overcome hurdles and stay focused.

The solid Van-Far team is coming off a 13-8 season in 2019 year run finishing districts in sechome the district title.

pause, Borchert felt the team was looking good when asked how they were progressing. "Practices have been going really great," Coach Borchert explained. "The cited to see the team back on the girls are working together extremely well. We are a little smaller of a squad this year but well."

"Everyone is very versatile, extremely hardworking, and really coachable," she noted when asked about the team's strengths. "Right now, things are looking pretty good. We just need to focus on staying healthy and being able to play some games this year.

The Lady Indians will see a familiar face returning to the coaching staff this year as well. "We have Coach Wes Rowden back as my assistant this year," Coach Borchert said. "He has coached softball for 17 years and definitely knows his stuff. The girls and I are very lucky to have him back with us this year."

Echoing many of the other softwhich broke a three consecutive ball programs this year, Borchert noted the Van-Far team had less ond place. In 2015, the team took seniors than previous seasons. "This year we are younger than This year, before being forced to we have been in the past with only three seniors, but as a team we are pushing through all the obstacles that 2020 is throwing at us."

She and coaching staff are exfield. "This group of girls have been extremely hardworking and great to be around. We are just definitely mesh together very anxious to get the season rolling."

BOWLING GREEN CROSS COUNTRY

Coach Matt Chance

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER Bowling Green Athletic Director and cross country Head Coach, Matt Chance is ready for an to put the boys and girls teams in action this season. The program has shown some impressive performances in previous years.

This year, they've added Samantha Krankka to the coaching staff. "She is a very valuable piece to our team and has tremendous experienced and success as a distance runner in high school and college," Coach Chance added.

"I like where the team is at right now," Chance answered when asked how he felt about the teams' progress so far. Both teams have put in the miles throughout the summer training period to prepare for this year's races. "We had a good summer of conditioning and now we are nearly four weeks into the season and workouts have become much more intense."

This year's roster includes four juniors and two seniors returning for the girl's team and one junior and senior for the boy's which makes a total roster of 19 runners. Chance sees that returning experience as one of the team's primary strengths.

"The strength of the team is our experience returning from last year. We lost some great kids due to graduation, but the group we have this year has worked extremely hard to be in position for a successful season."

Coach Joe Chinn

BOWLING GREEN RESTRUCTURES FOR NEW SUCCESS

The Bowling Green Bobcats are looking to bounce back after last year's 4-6 season with a new head coach. Joe Chinn takesthe helm this year, and he's bringing a strong coaching staff with him.

"We have had several new coaches come in this year and the kids are adjusting really well," Coach Chinn answered whenasked if there were any big changes this season for the team and coaching staff.

"I am the new head coach but will gram since 2015, he also helmed the

He is taking care of the special teams and DL. Jared Runyon from Palmyra is doing a great job with our WR and the OLBs. Finally, we added Terry Monroe to helpwith the LBs and 2017 Missouri Football Coaches Association Hall of Famer, Mark St. Clair brings a wealth of experience to the Bobcats with 185 wins over 22 years at the helm of the Hannibal football program. St. Clair was the head football coach there for 22 years before retiring after the 2018-2019 season.

Leake is no stranger to running an exceptional offense. Not only has he been a member of the high school pro-middle school program for an undefeated 7th and eighth-grade team for the past two seasons.

Coach Chinn looks to capitalize on the large pool of motivated players at the growing Bobcat Football program. "A major strength we have is our excitement. The kids really want to be here andhave very high expectations for this season. Another strength would be our depth. We have a lot of players that will be able to contribute on Friday nights."

With last year's decline from the 2018 7-4 season, the team has a lot to work on. Chinn pointed out that the team needs to continue improving daily. "We also have to be picky on our techniqueand assignments."

"I think our kids are getting better every day. They are coming into practice with a great attitude and are working very hard," Chinn finished.

INDIANHAWKS MEET OBSTACLES HEAD ON

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER

Head Coach Butch Wolanski steps back onto the sidelines to helm The Clopton/Elsberry IndianHawks. The IndianHawks finished last season with a 2-8 record. This year they're facing a declineon the roster after some key players graduated.

Despite those loses, the IndianHawks have a lot of experience coming back to the field with 10 returning seniors and 3 juniors making up most of the 23-player team roster. The IndianHawks willrely on some of them to play both directions, according to Wolanski, due to the numbers. "With numbers down, a "Team has been doing well considering the limited summer work," Wolanski said when asked how the team was progressing so

The Clopton/Elsberry team boasts a strong offensive line this year which Wolanksi considers one of their strengths. But like any good coach, he's keeping an eye on developing the programs futureby putting that heavy experience to task. "We are looking forward to watching our Offensive line continue to develop with the seniors leading the way."

As with many of the other area teams, the pandemic struck the program hard in the preseason. "Not having the summer reps, I think every position group needs to keep working on their craft. Were showing progress, it just comes with time," Wolanski spoke of the areas where the team needs to continue work-

Another concern for Coach Wolanski and Clopton/Elsberry football program is going to be staying healthy. Teams around the nation are already facing difficulties with the quarantine days causingteams to sit out of games. The IndianHawks are spread between two schools, adding to obstacles as common injuries within the game. "The injury bug could really bite us, but it would give the younger guys a chance to show what they can do if they get the opportunity."

"Right now, the biggest challenge is that our numbers are down from last year," Wolanski continued. So, guys are really going to have to step up and play a full four quarters."

Coach Wolanski also wants to focus on creating turnovers as one of the team's key factors to success. "We need to create more turnovers than we commit. We got better with that last year butwere putting an emphasis on it this year."

Fighting their way to a winning season won't be an easy task with the tough teams they'll face, but the IndianHawks are up to the challenge. "Were really looking forward to seeing our teamdefense continue to improve and excited about tweaking our offense a little bit," Coach Wolanski noted.

That's a lot to ask, but I know our returning runners, Taylor Akers, Macy Weitkamp, and Hunter Burt are up to the challenge of showing them the ropes and serving as motivators."

As with last year, there is a great deal of anticipation to get the season underway for a tough running schedule, but Coach Willis is confidant they can handle it.

"The strength of this team is its positivity," he explained. "The athletes show up every day to work. They are great at encouraging each other as they go, and they are having fun with it."

Fans can expect Coach Willis to keep

BULLDOGS CONTINUE TO REBUILD PROGRAM

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER

The Louisiana Bulldogs are looking to break beyond the shadow of previous seasons this year. Coach Greg Pitzer takes over the program and looks to return to winning after last year's 0-10 showing. In 2018, the team earned two wins which ended a several seasons of zero wins.

Assistant Coaches Tom Fallert, Matt Smith, and Zac Weber will also join Pitzer on the sidelines as the Bulldogs prepare to slog it out their opponents on the field.

This season, Coach Pitzer is hoping to lay the foundations of a successful future for the Bulldogs.

"I believe we have made strides in the right direction," Pitzer answered when asked how the team was progressing preseason. "The kids are learning every day and starting to understand and the expectations and standards have changed at Louisiana."

The team took an early hit this year after a car accident left teammate Angel Ulloa severely injured on their first day of practice. The initial shakeup for the players and community along with the continual adjustments due to COVID-19 have been the major challenges for the Bulldog's to face so far.

"We have had to adjust to the everchanging circumstances due to COVID-19 just like every other staff and school district."

"Our strengths lie in our quickness and speed at the skill positions," Coach Pitzer answered when speaking about the team's advantages and where it needs improve. "The biggest thing we need to work on is leadership within our program. This is something we have lacked for quite some time and it must change."

Coach Pitzer and his staff are ready to see a shift in Louisiana football, and they have a growing team to make it happen.

Last year, the team was forced to take loses due to injuries and short roster. Pitzer has a pool of 29 players to work with on this year's roster with 11 juniors and 4 seniors.

"I'm looking forward to watching our kids grow this season and lay the foundation for success in the future," Pitzer noted.

VAN-FAR INDIANS READY TO

BRICE J. CHANDLER • STAFF WRITER The Van-Far Indians are moving into their second season with Head Coach John Kliewer at the helm.

The Indians are looking to improve from last season's finish of 1-9. This year however, the team is already looking at an uphill battle after having to cancel the first three games due to COVID-19.

The impact of the cancellations has yet to be seen, but the Indians have a solid roster with five returning seniors: Anthony Garland, La-Trell Wright, Brandon Harvey, Garrett Schmidt, and AustinTaylor.

Joining them are five juniors, and three sophomores. Nine freshmen are also joining the seasoned players this year.

Last year Kliewer stated for the team was to simply improve daily and weekly. Unfortunately, none of the coaching staff were available for comment.

Kliewer changed the way the Indians had utilized a 5-2 defense in previous years to a 3-3 last year.

The Indian Hawks face off against Mark Twain on Sept.11.
