Louisiana Museum Donation

John Stoeckley donated the clay model he used for a bronze bust of 13th Amendment author John Brooks Henderson to the Louisiana Area Historical Museum on Aug. 19. The Louisiana artist explained the extensive work that went into the project. The museum was grateful for the contribution. The clay model sits atop a Buffum Tool Co., safe near the entrance of the museum, 304 Georgia. Kenny Lee of Bowling Green built the case for it. The facility is open from 10 a.m. to noon Saturdays and 1-3 p.m. Wednesdays. Pictured, from left: members of the Friends of the Louisiana Library Inc., Julie Stephens and Dr. Susan Deines

Henderson Featured In Magazine

By BRENT ENGEL
CONTRIBUTING WRITER
Editor's note: The following is by contributor Brent Engel, who wrote extensively of John Brooks Henderson and the Whiskey Ring in his 2019 book "They Call Us Pikers."

Pike County's John Brooks Henderson is featured in a new national publication.

The lead article in the summer issue of the quarterly "History Magazine" is entitled "The First U.S. Special Prosecutor"

It looks at Henderson's major role in the Whiskey Ring trials of 1875. The author is Fred Lucas, chief national affairs correspondent for The Daily Signal.

"Ulysses S. Grant and John Brooks Henderson each played giant roles in smashing American slavery," the article begins. "Grant did it on the battlefield. Henderson did it from the Senate floor, as one of the original authors of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution. A decade after the war's end - the two would be on a collision course in one of the most storied political scandals in American history."

The Whiskey Ring was a huge scam that involved millions of dollars and multiple cities, with St. Louis being the epicenter. It began in 1871 as a way of diverting federal government taxes on liquor to supporters of President Ulysses S. Grant, who successfully ran for re-election the following year.

Grant did not have direct knowledge of the scandal and was never accused of fraud, but several of his closest aides were in it up to their eyeballs. The chicanery was uncovered in 1874. More than 200 people were indicted.

Though both Republicans, Grant and Henderson disliked each other. The president's first choice for special prosecutor was Pike County lawyer David Patterson Dyer. Instead of taking the position, Dyer recommended his friend Henderson.

many others were convicted or pleaded guilty, the president's private secretary maintained he was "absolutely innocent." Gen. Orville Babcock had been an aide to Grant during the Civil War. Time magazine would later call Babcock a "schemer of unusually insidious brilliance."

Before the general faced a jury, Grant canned Henderson. The decision came after the prosecutor accused Babcock of obstructing justice and questioned Grant's right to "interfere with the honest discharge" of the Treasury Department's duties.

Henderson believed he did all possible to avoid implicating Grant, but said the president had been "grossly deceived and imposed upon by men who professed to be his friends, here (in St. Louis) and in Washington." He remained defiant.

"I said nothing beyond what my sworn duty required and, for that, I have no apology to make," Henderson said.

Dyer was tasked with finding a replacement. His first choice, Northeast Missouri attorney Samuel Glover, turned him down. Dyer then turned to James Overton Broadhead, a Democrat lawyer from Bowling Green. Broadhead accepted the position. See HENDERSON On Page 6

A Clearer Forecast For Tri-County Care Center

By BRICE J. CHANDLER
EDITOR

After a series of setbacks and the possibility of shutting down, things are looking up for Tri-County Care Center in Vandalia.

In the most recent update, Interim Administrator Penny Kampeter told the Tribune the facility passed a revisit survey conducted by the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS).

"We received a revisit on Aug. 9 and 10 and we passed," she explained. "That's wonderful news because we are back in compliance and able to take new admissions, Medicaid, and Medicare. Everything has been cleared."

DHSS's Regulatory Auditor Supervisor, Shanna Ferguson, also confirmed the facility passed the Wednesday, Aug. 10 inspection, noting "all deficiencies noted on [the June 10, 2022, inspection] have been corrected."

The June 10 survey list of deficiencies put the home in a precarious dilemma as they sought funding help from the City of Vandalia.

"No matter how many plans we made, it wouldn't have mattered if we didn't pass the inspection. It was really that big of a deal," Kampeter continued. Kampeter previously worked at TCCC as the administrator and explained she returned around the first part of May to help staff get back into state compliance along with Suzy Briscoe.

But she was quick to point out the true heroes were TCCC's embattled staff and maintenance crew.

They pulled off a feat which ultimately may have helped save the facility. In little over a month, they corrected over 32 deficiencies detailed by the state in a 201-page report.

Failure to correct the deficiencies could have resulted in the loss of accreditation from the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services.

"Kudos to the current staff that worked extremely hard getting the paperwork caught up and correct things they had been cited for," she said. "The maintenance crew worked intently on getting the environmental condition of the home fixed. They worked extremely hard on that."

Another resource that came to help TCCC's staff was the University of Missouri's Quality Improvement Program for Missouri (QIPMO) team.

QIPMO provides education on best practices to improve care delivery and outcomes for nursing home residents along with consultation and assistance for care providers. QIPMO is also grant funded which provided the service at no charge to TCCC.

"Along with all the current employees and myself, the QIPMO nurses came in and gave instruction," Kampeter told the Tribune. "They have nurses and job coaches who provide education and assistance to nursing facilities in day-to-day operations. But it can be especially helpful for those going through the survey process. But all the credit goes to the core employees who stayed at TCCC. They did a tremendous amount of the work. They need to be congratulated for getting through that process."

Another recent turning point for the center is the deal with Baptist Homes.

"Negotiations with Baptist Homes are continuing," Kampeter said. "My general understanding of the agreement is that Baptist Homes will manage the facility. This first paperwork will be a management agreement, and we'll continue to negotiate from there about the possibility of Baptist Homes purchasing."

She noted the management agreement is at currently under review with Baptist Homes legal department. "We expected to have that back soon."

As of this writing, TCCC has 35 residents and 65 employees, but Kampeter said the facility is already receiving inquiries from residents who want to return.

"Turning things around really was a group effort, but mainly from the employees here," Kampeter acknowledged. "They knew what they had to do and stuck with it and got it done. That was an unbelievable accomplishment. To go from 201 pages of deficiencies and to clear them all is huge. I'm extremely proud for the residents, the staff here, and the community. It appears that we are headed in the right direction."

The People's Tribune will update as more information becomes available.

Louisiana Rotary, Volunteer Build Beds For Children

For the second year, the Rotary Club of Louisiana organized a bunk bed building event for the Sleep in Heavenly Peace charity organization.

Around 70 volunteers including Rotarians, members of the Louisiana Bulldogs football team, LHS Cheer, and other members of the community all gathered at the Louisiana R-II School's Ag building to work on building bunk beds for the charity. Dorman Products provided financial support to the help make the project possible.

By the end of the day, the team of volunteers built 30 beds – an increase over the 20 made last year.

"The build went great," Louisiana Rotary President, Tim Jenkins told the Tribune. "Club members, along with help from numerous community volunteers were able to build beds for 30 area children. Sleep in Heavenly Peace will have a sign up available for local children to register to get one of these beds."

As with last year, the beds made stay as local as possible to help those children who may need a new bed to sleep. That need is greater than many might imagine.

"This is the second time our club has hosted a bed build and probably won't be the last time," Jenkins explained. "One of the things most of take for granted is going home and having a nice bed to sleep in."

Sleep in Heavenly Peace – is an organization that started the Bunks Across America project to help ensure all children have a safe, comfortable place to lay their heads.

"Across the US, too many boys and girls go without a bed—or even a pillow—to sleep on," the organization stated. "These children end up sleeping on couches, blankets, and even floors. This can affect their happiness and health."

According to Sleep in Heavenly Peace's website, they are a group of volunteers dedicated to building, assembling, and delivering top-notch bunk beds to children and families in need. The organization has grown steadily over time, and we're working on opening more chapters in different states to serve more people.

This year, the Louisiana Rotary will also contribute a district grant to purchase bedding for the children.

"To make this even cooler, our club also applied for and was awarded a Rotary Cap Grant to pay for the bedding for all 30 beds built," Jenkins continued. "So, the children will receive a bed with pillows, sheets, and comforters."

Another small difference that goes a long way for a child and family in need of a little assistance. Yet the project couldn't have happened without the volunteers in the community.

"Thanks to the generosity of our community and the hard work of so many 30 more local children will have this basic comfort when they go home after a long day!" Jenkins said.

End Of Summer Gardening Tip

The benefits of having a home garden are countless. It's a wonderful way to stay physically active, it can reduce stress levels and offer a relaxing form of self-care, and it can improve the curb appeal of your home. If you're retired, a garden is a perfect hobby you can do from home while enjoying your yard. Gardening, end of summer, late summer, tips, gardeners, soil, planting, spade, digging, earth. Then again, maybe you just love having fresh tomatoes whenever you want!

Whatever the case, gardens are great additions to every home, especially when they're flourishing throughout the summer.

Elks Lodge Donates To Families

Members of the Louisiana Elks Lodge #791 assisted more than 350 Pike County students with back to school clothing shopping the week of Monday, Aug. 8. On two nights, members of the Lodge helped Walmart employees check the families thru with their clothing purchases. The Elks spent more than $40,000 in funding from their George W. Trimble Trust for the project. Another event will be held later in the fall/early winter for winter clothing. Additionally, the Lodge is using more than $20,000 in Trimble Trust funds to help supply the area public elementary schools with classroom supplies. Lodge Secretary Tari Rule has been working closely with Louisiana R-II, Clopton R-III, Bowling Green R-I and BONCL Elementary Schools to get the supplies ordered and into the schools by the start of classes. In September, the Lodge will also be handing out Dictionaries to third grade students and Thesauruses to fifth grade students. The Elks motto is, Elks Care Elks Share.

JIM ARICO, MAYOR
CITY OF BOWLING GREEN

School has started and the city wishes the best year so far to our students, teachers, coaches, administrators, and support staff! LETS GO BOB-CATS.

Our best also goes to St. Clement, Pike County Christian and all the other schools in Pike County!

Thanks to the Bowling Park Board for sponsoring Rhythm in the Park, the finale of the Music in the Park concert series. Thanks also, to those that sang-a-long, clapped, danced, and attended the concerts throughout the summer. Your support and participation encouraged the Park Board to continue this entertainment for the 2023 summer season. Applause goes to vendors that were involved in the Rhythm and Barbecue Cook-Off and their support.

On Friday, Aug. 26, the Pike County Health Department will have a barbecue fundraiser at the Visitors' Center Park pavilion from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. They will even deliver for orders of 10 or more. Proceeds go to the Public Health Department.

The Bowling Green roundabout is nearing completion and should be completed by Labor Day weekend. Would a Bobcat symbol or silhouette look good in the middle of the roundabout? Call or text me at 314-941-2277 and let me know your thoughts. It would have to be approved by MODOT and no taxpayer money would be used if approved. It could not obstruct driver's vision according to MODOT.

With inflation still high, approval ratings low, supply lines backed up or nonexistent, many people are inclined to hold on to their money. However, when individuals and companies have invested back into their communities' people and services, profit margins have escalated. For example: car mechanics are being laid-off across the country due to electric cars and trucks. When owners and companies invest in retraining and expansion of their brand, they are preparing for the future. Fifty years from now we may all be driving electric cars but right now we need to invest in people and what lies ahead in the business arena.

The bicentennial committee is still moving toward Bowling Green's 200th birthday celebration. We are coming to a point where we will be looking for advertisers for this big event. For your advertising dollars, your business name, address, etc. will be in our bicentennial booklet, posted on line on the bgmo200.com website, signage at the July 1, 2023 as an advertiser and contributor, and your business name, etc. will be placed in the "time capsule" for the 2073 Bowling Green 250th birthday extravaganza.

More information and details will be following but even in these tough financial times, it is a great time to invest back into your community. There are also many businesses whose owners do not live in Bowling Green but you do a great deal of business here. Individuals and businesses, please consider advertising and/or contributing to this possible once in a life-time event.

OBITUARIES

Kali Nicole Barnes

Our beloved Kali Nicole Barnes, 28, died Friday Aug. 12, 2022. While her death was unexpected, Kali suffered from addiction, and for years we feared addiction would claim her life.

Memorial services were held Thursday at 10 a.m., at Bibb-Veach Funeral Homes & Crematory in Bowling Green with Rebecca Glenn officiating.

Visitation was Wednesday from 4-7 p.m., at the funeral home.

Kali was born Jan. 28, 1994, in Troy at Lincoln County Memorial Hospital. Kali moved to Columbia with her mother, Nikki, when she was seven months old and lived there until she was 27 years of age. She moved to Bowling Green for a brief period and was living in Farmington when she passed.

Kali was a bright light; an enormous amount of energy surrounded her. She always had time to listen and without judgement would offer a hug, a hand and a smile that would light up any room. Kali had a beautiful laugh, the kind that made people happy just hearing it. Kali enjoyed water. It didn't matter if she was on a boat, especially when wearing a sweatshirt, swimming or floating in it, or just looking at it. Three Creeks was one of her favorite parks to take her friends and siblings to so they could rope swing. Hiking thought Gans Creek and Rockbridge State Park, being grounded in nature and surrounded by trees was one of her favorite things to do.

She enjoyed really loud music, lazy rainy days, the results after working out, a game of spades, binging Netflix, milkshakes, a nice suntan, compliments from good friends and going on last minute trips.

Kali enjoyed journaling and writing poems. She became a licensed massage therapist in 2017. Anyone that had the pleasure of experiencing a massage from her knows what an extremely talented, insightful human she was.

It is impossible to capture a person in an obituary, and especially someone who's life was largely defined by addiction. Kali's relationship with addiction stated when she was 17. This relationship would dominate the rest of her life.

To some, Kali was just an addict. But, to most, and the ones that mattered, she was bright, funny, athletic, warm, fearless and resilient. She was a warrior. Kali could talk to anyone and when you were in her company you wanted to stay there. She was adored as a daughter, sister, niece, cousin, friend, granddaughter and mother. Being loved by Kali was an astonishing gift.

Kali loved her family, but more than anything she loved her children. After Lazarus was born in 2017 she transformed her life to be a mother to him. She loved to take him outdoors with her, whether it be to hike or to swim. And as she loved those things, so does he. Kali referred to herself as a stage five clinger and she clung to her son, soaking up every snuggle and sweet baby kisses.

After having Laz, Kali tried even harder to stay sober, but relapse led to her losing him for a period of time. As unbearable as that loss was she didn't give up, but continued to fight. She graduated a 20-month drug court program, wiping her record clean and earning her, her sweet son back. A fresh start. During that period of time in July of 2019 she gave birth to Arya Rose. Kali was now working as a massage therapist and juggling an infant, toddler all the while trying to maintain her sobriety.

Unfortunately, in 2021 a relapse would lead to her losing both of her babies, a loss that was unbearable. Her disease then took her to places of incredible darkness, and this darkness compounded on itself, as each unspeakable thing that happened to her and each horrible thing she did in the name of her disease exponentially increased her pain and shame. Addiction stalked her and stole her from us.

Kali is survived by her son, Lazarus; a daughter, Arya; her parents, Nikki Deters and husband, David and Gus Barnes; a brother, Jake; one sister, Sadie; two stepsisters, Gabi and Grace Deters; a stepbrother, Gavin Deters; grandparents, Tom and Kathie Branstetter and Wanda Barnes; stepgrandmother, Elaine Deters; many aunts, uncles and cousins.

She was preceded in death by her grandfather, Hugh Barnes.

In lieu of flowers please consider donating to "To Write Love On Her Arms" (www.twloha.com), a movement Kali adamantly loved and supported. Memorials may also be made to Laz Barnes and Arya Parker scholarship fund.

If you yourself are struggling from addiction know that every breath is a fresh start. Know that hundreds of thousands of families who have lost someone to this disease are praying and rooting for you. Know that we believe with all our hearts that you can and will make it. It is never too late. We take comfort in knowing that Kali is surrounded by light and love, she is free from the struggle that haunted her. Our grief over losing her is infinite. And now so is she.

Barbara Ann Menshouse

A celebration of Barbara Ann Menshouse's life is being planned for a future date.

She was born in St. Louis daughter of Andrew "Andy" and Helen M. Murray. She lived the ideal childhood in a Berkeley subdivision in St. Louis County. Her house was within walking distance of the grade school and high school.

The 60's was a marvelous time to be a kid or a young adult. No distractions from cellphones, just plain fun playing outside with your friends. There was nothing better than the freedom of riding your bicycles with friends all around the subdivision.

After graduation from high school, Barb earned her teaching degree at William Jewell College and Warrensburg. Barbara fell in love with Arthur Menshouse while attending college. Shortly after receiving their degrees, they were married.

Barbara was the perfect person to teach kids. She had a delightful and entertaining personality. Her young students loved her. I can remember how she always decorated her classroom so that while teaching the children they were always happy about their surroundings. She received numerous teaching awards from the school and was loved by her students, fellow teachers, and friends in the Hazelwood school district.

Barb and Art spent many wonderful vacations together and with family. Their hobbies included camping, show dogs and breeding and racing horses. Barbara's husband, Art passed away about the time Barbara retired from teaching after some 40 years. Barb and Art were both Jehovah witnesses.

After Art's death, Barb made the decision to move to her current home in Bowling Green. She wanted to be closer to a lot of her friends and church members that had moved or already lived there.

While in Bowling Green, she helped her Kingdom Hall build numerous other halls and she became quite good at building. She also spent many hours witnessing. We will all miss her dearly.

Surviving is a brother, Drew Murray and wife, Lana; their daughters, Pamela Murray Fox and husband, Steve, Cynthia Murray Dominique and husband Bryan; their son, Brian Murray, and wife, Jackie Selk Murray; four grand-nieces and nephews, Laurynn Kennedy, Kyle Fox, Abby Fox, and Christian Dominique.

Other survivors include two sons, Larry Bass of Blairsville, Ga., and Lynn Bass and wife, Hanna of Chandler, Ariz.; one daughter, Lana Vestal and husband, Frank of Laddonia; a son-in-law, Bill Goff of Mexico; one brother, Tom Vanskike of Spokane, Wash.; two sisters, Rosalie Hicklin and Sharon Pruitt of Kalispell, Mont.; nine grandchildren, Michelle Stanek, Tory Vestal, Tracy Vestal, Trent Vestal, Allison Guerra, Luke Bass, Dillon Bass, Matthew Goff, and Dawn Goff; 19 great-grandchildren; and four great-great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents, two daughters, Lisa Bass and Laura Goff, one granddaughter, Amanda Goff and one great-grandson, Preston Vestal.

Mrs. Bass was a member of the Vandalia First Baptist Church, where she was very active in the Woman's Missionary Union (WMU). She enjoyed cooking, baking, journaling, and taking pictures. Most of all, Delores enjoyed hosting family dinners.

Pallbearers were Tory Vestal, Trent Vestal, Tracy Vestal, Luke Bass, Dillon Bass, Matthew Goff, Logan Goff, and Nate Guerra.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Samaritans Purse or to Lottie Moon, c/o Bienhoff Funeral Home, P.O. Box 6, Laddonia, MO 63352.

HENDERSON

tion, even though he had just five weeks to prepare for the pivotal trial.

Three of the 12-member jury – which the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported was made up of "seven farmers, three blacksmiths, a wagon-maker and a bricklayer" – were from Northeast Missouri, and the pool from which they were chosen included 55-year-old Pike County pioneer farmer John Shannon of Louisiana. They would witness history.

"This scandal had sullied Grant's good name and his good friend," Lucas writes. "To clear up both, he would do something no other president had ever done – testify in a criminal trial."

Grant wanted to go to St. Louis and answer questions, but his staff convinced him to avoid the spectacle and be deposited at the White House.

"I have always had great confidence in his integrity and efficiency," Grant said of Babcock. "And as yet, my confidence in him is unshaken. I have never learned anything that would shake that confidence."

The jury was swayed by the president's words and Babcock was acquitted. Two months later, he was indicted in the Safe Burglary Conspiracy – an effort to influence the prosecution of corrupt building contractors in Washington, D.C. – but again was not convicted. Grant appointed Babcock as chief inspector of lighthouses. He died at age 48 in 1884 when his boat capsized during a storm in Florida.

Before leaving office, Grant pardoned McDonald. The president died just after completing his memoirs at age 63 in 1885. Five years earlier, an apparently ungrateful McDonald had written a tell-all book in which he claimed Grant and Babcock had been complicit in the Whiskey Ring. Few believed him. McDonald died at 80 in 1912.

In August 1876, Grant fired Dyer, too – from his job as U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Missouri. He was named to the position again in 1902 and five years later was appointed a federal judge by Republican President Theodore Roosevelt. Dyer died at 86 in 1924.

Broadhead was the first president of the American Bar Association, and served as a congressman and an ambassador. He passed at 79 in 1898.

By 1877, Henderson was back in the good graces of the Republican Party and would continue to defend constitutional freedoms while promoting the rule of law. He died at 86 in 1913.

"Today, the names of Robert Mueller, Kenneth Starr and Archibald Cox have become almost as famous as the presidents they investigated," Lucas said. "But Henderson was the first special prosecutor named to investigate the executive branch with some degree of autonomy."
