Bowling Green Aldermen Open Bids On Building Demolition

APRIL M. FRONICK • EDITOR
april@thepeopletribune.com

Despite the county commission deciding to back out of working together to take down two dilapidated properties for the city along with portions of the Courthouse Annex, the Bowling Green Board of Aldermen opened bids for the projects yesterday.

Presiding Commissioner Chris

Gamm attended the board's committee meeting on Monday, Oct. 2. At that time he indicated the Annex has had problems for some time and that taking down a portion of it would make sense.

"We've been kicking the can down the road since 2015," he had remarked.

Since then the commissioners met with their engineer, Michael Purol. He indicated that work could be done to restore the property.

Western District Commissioner Bill Allen said he would rather spend another $150,000 and maintain the structure rather than spending that amount or more to demolish a building that can be structurally sound.

Vandalia Announces New Business On The Way

The City of Vandalia is pleased to welcome Albsmeyer Electric, Inc., to the Vandalia community.

Albsmeyer Electric Inc., of Payson, Ill., has agreed to purchase 3.1 acres in the Vandalia Industrial Park, on which a 6,400 square foot building will be constructed within a year. From this facility, Albsmeyer Electric will be offering the sales and service of grain and livestock production equipment, along with electrical services.

The company is owned by Adam and Denise Albsmeyer and will have two or three full-time employees at this location.

Albsmeyer said, "I am anxious to get operations underway in Vandalia. The building has been ordered, and construction will begin soon. At our Vandalia location, we will be carrying a full line of inventory for swine production facilities, all areas of grain handling and storage, along with pivot irrigation parts and supplies. I appreciate the help of Karen Shaw and Darren Berry working through the process of purchasing the property. This is right where we want to be, and we are looking forward to being a part of the Vandalia and surrounding communities."

Berry commented, "I am excited to welcome Albsmeyer Electric, Inc., and the Albsmeyers to Vandalia. It will be great to see another building go up in the Industrial Park. I want to thank the Albsmeyers for the investment in our town. It is private investment that creates economic activity, jobs, and potentially, growth."

Bridge Web Cam: A Safe Way To View Champ Clark Bridge Construction

Work is has begun to remove the ferry landing on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River near the Champ Clark Bridge, and anyone wanting to view progress can now go online and access the construction web cam.

"This camera takes four to five shots of the bridge an hour at random intervals, so it refreshes every 10 to 15 minutes which gives viewers near real-time work," said Missouri Department of Transportation Project Manager Keith Killen. He said the play button shows a condensed slide show of images.

The web cam, along with construction photos and the latest online newsletter, can be accessed by clicking the "What's Going On Now" button on www.champclarkbridge.com.

While much work has been done at the intersection of U.S. 54 and MO 79 in Louisiana, area residents and drivers will soon be able to see crews drilling shafts in the river on the Illinois side in preparation for the construction of the bridge piers.

Weather Delaying Opening Of Noix Creek Bridge In Louisiana

The Noix Creek Bridge on Missouri Route 79 in Louisiana is now expected to open early next week, depending on the weather.

The Buffalo Creek bridge further south on MO 79 is expected to open by Nov. 3.

"We appreciate everyone's patience as our contractor works to make the bridge wider and safer," Haeffner said. As soon as the bridge is ready to open, information will be distributed publicly.

Shelba Northcutt Marks 50th Year In Banking

Shelba Northcutt just reached her 50th year in the banking industry.

Peoples Bank & Trust in Bowling Green will be holding a celebratory open house on Friday, Oct. 20 to mark her golden anniversary. The event will be held from 1-4 p.m. with cake, punch and coffee served.

After graduating from Bowling Green High School in May of 1967, Shelba planned on going to business school. However, when she and her dad went to Farmers Bank in Bowling Green to get a student loan, Charles Mettler, Student Loan Officer, offered her a job. He told her to let the bank pay her to learn about business and banking.

With visions of a brand new car, it didn't take Shelba long to accept the job. Therefore, at the age of 19, Shelba started her banking career in the bookkeeping department and as the years have passed she was promoted to teller, loan secretary, loan officer and assistant vice president. She has worked through many bank mergers and while at U.S. Bank, she was awarded the "Circle of Excellence Award" for exemplary customer service.

Shelba is married to Walter Northcutt and they live on a farm near Middletown. She has two daughters, Jill Miller and Julie Dunn of Lake St. Louis, son-in-law, Geff Dunn and five grandchildren, Shelby Dunn, Sydney Dunn, Sophia Dunn, Jaxson Dunn and Joshua Miller.

Shelba is the daughter of Leon and Geneva Knock of Bowling Green.

Shelba currently works part-time as customer service agent for Peoples Bank and Trust in Bowling Green.

Shelba looks back on those 50 years now and knows why she stuck with it. It is because she loved serving the wonderful people of Bowling Green and loved working with the "best of the best employers and employees."

Scherder Is Finalist In Conservation Award

Sand County Foundation, in partnership with Missouri Farmers Care, has announced the finalists for the inaugural Missouri Leopold Conservation Award®, which honors farmer, rancher and forester achievement in voluntary stewardship and management of natural resources.

The finalists are:

•John and Sandy Scherder, owners of Scherder Farms in Frankford. The Scherders grow corn, beans, wheat and hay, and also have a cow/calf herd. They began using no-till practices in the late 90s, and they have incorporated cover crops into their rotation over the past five years. The family has also established over 150 acres of quail habitat. The Pike County Soil & Water Conservation District, initiated the nomination for Scherder.

•Richard and Renee Fordyce, owners of Fordyce Farms in Bethany. The Fordyces raise corn and soybeans, and also have a commercial cow/calf herd. In addition to a strong dedication to building soil health and sharing its benefits, the family has invested considerable effort into converting some former crop land into riparian habitat for wildlife.

•Matt and Kate Lambert, owners of Uptown Farms in Laclede. Their farm consists of 2,000 acres of row crop and hay production, commercial Red Angus cattle and a small flock of Hampshire and Dorper sheep. The Lamberts have transitioned their farm to completely no-till, and they use cover crops to enhance soil health while minimizing soil erosion and runoff.

Given in honor of renowned conservationist Aldo Leopold, the Leopold Conservation Award recognizes extraordinary achievement in voluntary conservation. It inspires other landowners through these examples and provides a visible forum where farmers, ranchers and other private landowners are recognized as conservation leaders. In his influential 1949 book, A Sand County Almanac, Leopold called for an ethical relationship between people and the land they own and manage, which he called "an evolutionary possibility and an ecological necessity."

The 2017 Leopold Conservation Award will be announced at the National Association of Farm Broadcasters in Kansas City Nov. 8, and officially presented to the winner on Jan. 6, 2018 at the 50th Missouri Cattle Industry Convention and Tradeshow in Columbia. The award recipient will receive $10,000 and a crystal depicting Aldo Leopold.

"The quality of the applications received reflects the value and emphasis Missouri farmers and ranchers place on stewardship of their land, animals and natural resources," said Missouri Farmers Care's Executive Director Ashley McCarty. "Missouri's landowners share a long-term view. They are continually seeking ways to both enhance their productivity and improve their farms, leaving the land in better shape after being in their care."

The Leopold Conservation Award Program in Missouri is made possible thanks to the generous support of Missouri Farmers Care, Missouri Soybean Merchandising Council, Missouri Cattlemen's Association, Missouri Corn Merchandising Council, Missouri Department of Conservation, MFA, Inc., Missouri's Electric Cooperatives, Missouri Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Missouri Soil and Water Conservation Program, and USDA NRCS.

573-324-6707 or 573-324-3154. Pike College provided an education strong on the classics to thousands of young people from its founding in 1881 until the building on Centennial Street burned in 1922.

The class of 1889-1890 had 130 students who took classes in everything from zoology and plane geometry to violin and Homer's Iliad. There were eight faculty members, six of whom were women. President Ernest W. Dow also taught languages and "mental and moral sciences."

Sixty-eight students were from Bowling Green, which the catalogue describes as "a beautiful little city of 2,000 inhabitants." Another 48 kids came from other Pike County communities, with six from Lincoln County and two each from Monroe, Ralls and Audrain counties. The other two students were from the state of Virginia. A little over half of the total were women.

The catalogue lists important topics such as tuition costs and class offerings, but it's the "Rules and Regulations" section that seems quaint almost 130 years later. "As a home for students it is decidedly free from temptations," the booklet assures. "There are no saloons in our city. Our students are thus free from a temptation which wrecks the lives of many a young man."

Parents can entrust "their sons and daughters to our care with confidence that their habits will be carefully looked after, and everything possible done to promote their welfare," it continues.

"Loose discipline and thorough scholarship seldom go together."

Those who couldn't resist the enticements of licentiousness and debauchery faced discipline that included expulsion.

"Neither drinking nor gambling will be tolerated," the manual says. "Such offences are grievous and persons so offending will be summarily dealt with. We cannot afford to permit the attendance of even one 'tippler' for the reason that through his influence others may be contaminated."

Also banned were the "use of profane or impure language," "frequent visits to each others rooms" and "loitering about town." No tobacco products could be used inside the college building and "ladies are not allowed to receive the attention of young gentlemen except by consent of the parent or guardian and of the President of the College."

Religious observance also was deemed highly necessary. "Our students are expected to attend some one of the Churches and Sunday Schools on Sunday," the catalogue says.

Tuition ranged from $18 to $21 per year — about $475 to $550 today — depending upon the course of study. The average annual wage at the time was around $375. Tuition could be paid for the year or in thirds at the start of semesters on Sept. 9, Dec. 2 and March 3. There were no additional costs or book fees. Refunds were not available to those who dropped out or were suspended. There were no classes on Thanksgiving and the day after or from Dec. 24 to 30.

Students were allowed to board with local families for $2.50 to $3 per week — around $65 in 2017 — as long as the college president approved.

"A number of our best families are now keeping student boarders and others are will to do so," the catalogue says.

Many student names are recognizable to Pike County residents today, including Biggs, Ingram, Omohundro, and Sisson.

The catalogue is one of thousands of items on display at Honey Shuck, the Clark home at 207 E. Champ Clark Drive in Bowling Green.

At the Oct. 26 banquet, Mark Twain Boyhood Home and Museum Executive Director Henry Sweets will deliver the keynote address. He's expected to note connections between Clark and Twain.

Champ Clark Honey Shuck Restoration board members include President Nathan Lilley, Vice President Charlene McCune, Treasurer Bob Kirkpatrick, Secretary Brent Engel, Paulette Bruch, Ethan Colbert, Nancy Guyton, Alan Hiles, Holly Johnston, Diane Kirkpatrick, Glen Leverenz, Tom Lewis, Trevor Lilley, Larry Twellman, Margie Vogel and Pam Williams. Honorary members include Millie Betz, J. Bennett Clark, Millie Jackson, Ed Lawson and Elenore Schewe.

Reeve visited school principals in Pike County to sell the idea. He and his six-year-old grandson, Blaine, built the prototype. Hamilton, Reeve and Lions Herbert Everett and D. Randall Cone got help from volunteers Marilyn Hamilton, Kay Reeve and Alyssa Ellis. It took about two weeks from start to finish. The 42 units are being delivered to the schools.

Tickets for the Duck Hunt are one duck for $4 and three ducks for $10, the same as last year. Numbers on the tickets correspond to numbers on the bottoms of ducks.

Top prize is a Henry Golden Boy .22-caliber western rifle. More than 20 other items donated by area merchants will be awarded. Crowd members will be asked to pluck plastic ducks from a portable pond. There will be two winners from each group of 100 ducks, expanding the chances of more people winning a prize.

People are encouraged to name their entries. Monikers in the past have included Full Steam Ahead, Quack Pack, Darkness, Eat My Wake, Faster Than Yours and Blah, Blah, Blah.

Tickets are available from Lions Club members. They also may be purchased from the Lions' tent at Third and Georgia Street on Saturday and Sunday of Colorfest. On Sunday, purchases may be made at the riverfront until just before the hunt begins. The Boy Scouts parents of Bowling Green are assisting.

The Lions Club also is hosting its annual Candy Days for sight services Oct. 20 and 21. Volunteers will seek donations at Third and Georgia and at Third and U.S. Highway 54 near the Champ Clark Bridge.

Proceeds will be used for Lions Club local service projects benefiting sight and hearing research, educational efforts and community needs.

into 42 eye-catching, fun-filled fraction illustrator games. An estimated $250 went into the labor-intensive project.

The Lions no longer needed the noodles because the onetime river race has been revamped as the land-based Original Great Mississippi River Duck Hunt, with help from the Bowling Green Lions Club. The Duck Hunt is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 22, as part of Louisiana Country Colorfest.

"This is a good community service for us," said Louisiana Lions President Don Hamilton. "We decided education would be a good cause to which we could donate."

One of the newest club members, former math teacher Tim Reeve, made the suggestion and organized the project after learning the Lions wanted to get rid of obsolete storage shed items, which included pool noodles that had once helped coral plastic ducks used in the river race.

"It just occurred to me that we had enough to do that," he said. "I had to make up an initial prototype. I took it in to the next meeting and they said 'OK, we get it.' Off we went."

The noodles were thoroughly sterilized and cut into chunks before being placed onto dowels that were attached to a base. Fractions were then written on the noodles. Each row adds up to a whole number. The idea is to help kids conceptualize math lessons.

"They can play with it and rearrange it and see how it all goes together," Reeve said.

"Fractions are very hard to understand," added Hamilton. "With this, you can visualize fractions, and that helps students to understand the process."

Louisiana Lions Club President Don Hamilton looks over fraction illustrator games assembled by the club for use in Pike County schools. The Lions fund such community projects through efforts such as the Original Great Mississippi River Duck Hunt, which is scheduled for 2 p.m. Oct. 22 as part of Louisiana Colorfest.

Community State Bank Purchases Land By Roundabout

Community State Bank of Missouri is very pleased to announce that the bank recently purchased land in the BG Town Center. The property is located just west of Valvoline at the roundabout. The bank has no immediate plans for the property at the Town Center location. The community is growing and the bank would like to be prepared for the future. The bank will continue its operations in the building on the north side of the square.

A group of local investors founded the bank in 1887 as the Bank of Curryville. In 1945, the bank moved to 22 West Main in Bowling Green and was renamed the Community State Bank of Bowling Green. In 1968 the bank moved to the present location at 117 W Church St. The main facility was expanded in 1989 and will remain the main facility for the bank. In 1998 the bank established a branch facility in Troy Missouri at what is now known as 101 Community Bank Plaza. In 2005 the bank name was changed to Community State Bank of Missouri to better define the market area that is served.

In addition to convenient locations, the bank has expanded the products and service offered to serve the customers.

As the community has grown so has the bank. The bank looks forward to the future growth opportunity for the bank and the community. This purchase demonstrates continued investment and commitment to this community and customers of the bank.

Lady Cats Claw Through Metro, Palmyra To Earn First Trip To State Tourney

Home Run Blasts Continue In Sectional, Quarterfinal

Bowling Green is heading to their first-ever softball final four after a pair of impressive wins to open the MSHSAA Class 2 State Tournament.

After wasting little time downing Metro in the State Sectional on Wednesday, the Lady Cats took on Palmyra at home on Saturday for the Quarterfinal.

The Panthers were a surprise participant after downing the mighty North Callaway T-Birds in the sectional.

The Lady Cats lost the coin flip and were the visitors on their new scoreboard. That meant Bowling Green had the first at-bat and scored quickly in the top of the first.

After Panthers hot hand Alana Comstock retired Anah Noble and Mallory Feldewerth to open the contest, Gabi Deters doubled with two outs and took third as the Panthers defense let down their guard.

With KateLynn Charlton at the plate, Deters took off for home as a pitch went back to the screen.

Deters slid head first to the plate for a 1-0 Bowling Green lead.

In the bottom of the inning Palmyra touched Sarah Harness for her first three hits allowed in the post-season to load the bases with just one out.

Harness struck out Lexi Arch and Comstock to get out of the predicament without a run scored.

Palmyra would leave a runner at third in the third inning and one at second in the fourth frame as the 1-0 lead held past the fifth inning stretch.

Comstock pitched well, holding the Lady Cats to just one hit over her first five innings in the circle.

The Panthers tied the game in the bottom of the fifth when Megan Stone singled with one out, then Brooke Wilson singled with two outs.

The Wilson ball short-hopped right fielder Morgen Billings and went to the wall to tie the game.

A walk followed before Deters dove to catch a foul pop-up to end the inning.

Now tied going into the sixth inning, Bowling Green hit restart on the offense.

Pinch hitter Jade Meier led off the inning with a single, going to second on an error.

A batter later Feldewerth came to the plate. She initially tried to sacrifice the runner to third, but put a bunt in foul territory sending the count to two strikes and a change in strategy.

Now swinging away, Feldewerth fouled off a pitch, then blasted another 0-2 pitch over the center field fence to put the LadyCats up 3-1, electrifying the huge home crowd.

Deters was the next in line for Bowling Green and, just like in the district championship, went back-to-back with Feldewerth for her fourth home run of the post-season and a 4-1 advantage.

Just one batter later, third bagger Kaylyn McKee put a big bow on the inning with a long, towering home run to right center.

The third home run sent Comstock to the dugout and Bowling Green to the Semifinal.

Harness only allowed one more runner to reach, retiring six of the final seven hitters she faced to seal the win.

In the Sectional on Wednesday, the Lady Cats got a quick tour of the city, were able to play on a Division 1 college field at St. Louis University and finally beat the district 7 champion Metro Panthers in four innings 20-0.

Sarah Harness silenced Metro bats, including Ayanna Tomlin, who led the St. Louis metro area with 67 RBIs during the season.

Harness struck out eight batters in her four innings of work and picked up her third no-hitter of the post-season.

Gabi Deters put Bowling Green up in the first inning with a two-run single, then scored on a long home run from Kaylyn McKee.

Bowling Green scored five more runs in the top of the second. Anah Noble sent a one-out hit to the gap in right center, rounding the bases for an inside-the-park home run.

KateLynn Charlton drove in two with a triple and Haylee Chandler singled in a run in the frame.

Jade Meier led off the Lady Cats' third inning with a pinch single, scoring on a triple by Noble with one out.

Noble and Feldewerth scored on a McKee triple and Chandler picked up her second RBI with a single.

Bowling Green led 13-0 after three innings, but had their biggest output one inning later.

The Lady Cats scored seven times in their final at-bat as Noble completed her quest for the cycle with a RBI double and Feldewerth, Deters, McKee, KateLynn and Kinley Charlton all drove in runs for Bowling Green.

After the pair of heavy hitting wins, the Lady Cats move on to Springfield for the MSHSAA Championships, a first for the program.

Bowling Green will take on the Kelly Lady Hawks (23-6) in the Class 2 Semifinal on Friday.

Game time is set for 10 a.m. from the Killian Softball Complex.

TRIBCAST will bring you the event live with pregame beginning at 9:45 a.m.

Lady Hawks Come Up Short In Quarterfinal To Pilot Grove

The Clopton Hawks were just a run away from a return trip to the MSHSAA Class 1 Championships, falling 2-1 to the Pilot Grove Tigers on Saturday in the Quarterfinals.

The Tigers grabbed a 1-0 lead in the top of the second when fifth place hitter Natalie Rentel deposited a Maya Street pitch behind the fence in left-center.

The blast could have been the second of back-to-back homers, but Jillian Lockard pulled back a drive by Melanie Wolfe destined to reach with a catch at the fence.

The Pilot Grove lead held at 1-0 until the sixth inning as the Hawks stranded three runners against pitcher Samarah Bailey.

The Tigers struck with another tally in the top of the sixth inning on a sacrifice fly after back to back hits.

Clopton got on the board in the bottom of the frame when Kaitlyn Kuntz was hit by a pitch leading off and went to third on a single from Taylor Smith.

Kuntz would score on a double by Street and the Hawks had runners at second and third with just one out in a 2-1 game.

With two outs McCaylee McPike nearly beat out a grounder to short that would have tied the contest, but the out was made and Clopton was down to just three outs to attempt a tie.

Bailey would retire the first two batters in the seventh before a Jillian Lockard single put the tying run aboard.

Kuntz was up next and lifted a ball to short center with Lockard rounding the bases. The ball looked as though it would fall amongst confusion in the field, by was wedged between the shortstop and centerfielder long enough for an out to end the season for Clopton.

Street took the loss in her final start for Clopton, allowing two earned runs while striking out 11 Tiger hitters.

Clopton had advanced to the Quarterfinal with a 2-0 Sectional win over Northeast (Cairo) on Wednesday in Troy.

A McPike fly to left was mishandled in the fourth inning, allowing Allison Hunter to score for the first Clopton run.

The Hawks added another tally in the top of the sixth when McCaylee brought home Maya Street with a sacrifice fly to deep right field again.

Street fanned 11 batters in the Sectional as well, allowing just one Bearcat hit.

The Hawks finished the season with an 18-9 record.

Clopton will have to replace three starters next season as they will graduate pitcher Maya Street, catcher McCaylee McPike and third baseman Taylor Smith.

All of Clopton's postseason games were featured on TribCAST and can be accessed, along with free, downloadable photos, at www.thepeopletribune.com.

Bowling Green Cross Country Teams Dominate EMO Conference Meet

The Bowling Green cross country teams took the EMO Conference titles again this year on Saturday, Oct. 14. This is the 10th title in a row for the girls and the 17th in 18 years for the boy's team.

Coach Matt Chance said it was a total team effort from the girls. "The girls were very excited for this meet and ran very aggressive at the beginning of the race. We still have time before districts and state to improve on some little things but this group has improved each week and I feel that this group will run their best over the next few meets," Chance said.

He added it was a dominating performance for the boys this time.

"They continue to have an excellent pack and work together in the middle of the race. This group has a great chance to qualify for the state meet," Chance remarked.

The Clopton girl's team took third place at the meet and the Clopton boy's team finished second in the conference.

Louisiana Bulldogs Play Well In Final Clarence Cannon Conference Game

The Louisiana Bulldogs led their final Clarence Cannon Conference football game for over three quarters, but a fourth quarter surge led Highland to the 28-13 victory.

The Bulldogs appeared to be pulling out all the stops to end their long losing streak and their storied tenure in the conference on a high note.

Louisiana won the coin toss, but elected to kick off to start the contest. The Bulldogs still opened with ball, pulling off an inside kick that stunned the Cougars.

The trickery by Louisiana started a twelve play drive that lasted nearly half of the first quarter.

The Bulldogs would score as Dalton Oberhaus took the ball through the heart of the Highland defense for a twelve yard touchdown and a 7-0 lead.

As dominating as the opening drive was, it was the defenses that took center stage the majority of the game.

The Bulldog defense forced punts on the first two Highland offensive series, allowing the Cougars only one first down.

Louisiana suffered a big blow late in the first quarter when senior return man Michael Francis took a punt inside his own twenty and raced toward the right sideline.

Francis was brought down awkwardly at the thirty-six yard line, causing a leg injury that forced him out of the game.

The short-handed Bulldogs still forced the Cougars to punt away two possessions in the second quarter.

Zach Ellsworth intercepted quarterback Chance Newton on another Highland series to complete the first half shutout.

Louisiana returned from the locker room and appeared poised to add to their lead.

The Bulldogs ran twelve plays on the opening drive of the half, covering sixty-six yards and nearly nine minutes of game clock.

At the end, the Bulldogs were unable to convert a fourth and one play, turning the ball over on downs.

All was not lost for Louisiana. On the very next play, Ellsworth picked off the Cougar Quarterback a second time, giving the Bulldog offense the ball back at the Highland forty-three yard line.

The Bulldogs carried the ball into the final quarter, moving all the way to the Highland eleven yard line.

Again Louisiana faced a fourth and one deep in Cougar territory. This time a bad snap put the ball on the ground. Oberhaus picked it up, but could only reach the line of scrimmage, turning the ball back to Highland.

The back to back stops energized the Cougars and their home fans. Two plays after the turnover, and with a new quarterback under center, Highland was in the end zone for the first time.

Braedyn Hetzler connected with Newton for a fifty-nine yard score to cut the Louisiana lead to 7-6.

The Cougars were able to convert a two point try to pull ahead.

After a Bulldogs punt, Highland increased the lead with a twenty-four yard run by Jace Jagger to lead 14-7 with just over six minutes to play.

The Bulldogs answered with a three minute drive and a second Dalton Oberhaus twelve yard score to bring Louisiana within a point.

Instead of kicking for the tie, coach Greg Purdam went for the lead. On the two point try, Ellsworth had his defender twisted the wrong direction, but the pass from Cam Henderson hit the unwitting cornerback in the back to break up the pass.

The Cougars increased their lead just four plays later as Newton hauled in another pass for a score with just under two minutes left.

Now pressing to move quickly, Henderson was picked off for another Highland score just sixteen seconds later.

Oberhaus connected with Tyler Pederson for a big gain into Highland territory, but the clock expired on the game, the 2017 regular season and Bulldog football in the Clarence Cannon Conference.

Gridiron District Preview

After nine weeks of regular season action, the district brackets are set for our area football teams.

With Bowling Green, Clopton-Elsberry and Van-Far grouped together, most of the areas attention will be focused on the Class 2, District 6 Tournament.

Despite a ninety yard return for a touchdown by Matt Kay in week nine and a rushing score for quarterback Austin Callahan, Bowling Green fell to Wright City 21-16 in their regular season finale.

The Bobcats posted three wins this year and will play (4)Clark County on the road to open district play.

As a number five seed, Bowling Green is the highest ranked team from the area this season.

The Van-Far Indians had one more win than Bowling Green, but strength of schedule dropped the Indians to the sixth seed.

The Indians finished the regular season with a loss last Friday, 59-7 to South Callaway.

Van-Far will travel to (3)Centralia for the first round of districts, taking on the 5-4 Panthers.

Clopton-Elsberry dealt with youth and injuries at key positions, finishing the 2017 regular season with a 2-7 record.

The IndianHawks took a 59-14 loss last week against Mark Twain.

Clopton-Elsberry will have to go to (2)Palmyra, playing as the seventh seed.

Louisiana nearly pulled off their first win of the season last week at Highland, but will still enter districts as the eighth seed in the Class 1, District 5 Tournament.

The Bulldogs will play the undefeated Monroe City Panthers in the first week of district play.

The Panthers were the runners up in Class 1 football last year.

The Bowling Green FBLA will be sponsoring the BGHS Red & Black Scrimmage on Wednesday, Nov. 8 at 6 p.m. in the high school gym.

It will feature the band, cheerleading and pom squads, junior varsity and varsity girl's and boy's basketball teams.

Bowling Green flags will be sold by the BGHS Business Education Advisory Committee.

Louisiana Museum Recognizes Volunteers

Volunteers for the Louisiana Area Historical Museum donate countless hours of their time to keep the Museum open for the enjoyment and education of the public. They make it possible for local residents as well as tour groups to enjoy the treasures that are housed in the Museum at 304 Georgia Street in Louisiana.

Area volunteers have shared their interests and knowledge of history with children during summer programs. Those who donate items to the Museum know each gift will be respected and preserved by volunteer assistants. In appreciation for working at the Museum and keeping it open to visitors, these dedicated volunteers were invited to a reception at the Museum on Thursday, October 12.

Board president Judy Schmidt thanked each person for their support of the Museum and shared with them the various additions and improvements that have been made recently. Volunteer coordinators are Jean Eastman, Charlotte Perrine, and Dorothy Webb. Anyone interested in serving as a volunteer when the Museum re-opens next Memorial Day for the 2018 season can contact one of these ladies. The 2017 season is wrapping up with extended hours during Colorfest weekend.

Preliminary Hearing Set For Murder Suspect

An evidence hearing is Nov. 8 for a man accused of killing his stepson in Pike County.

Michael Allan Black, 60, is charged with first degree murder and armed criminal action in the shooting death of 31-year-old Alexander Koch.

The Pike County Sheriff's Department was called to a report of a domestic disturbance at 10:13 p.m. on Aug. 18 at a home on Route Y southwest of Bowling Green.

According to a probable cause statement, the suspect allegedly told authorities he shot Koch because he was tired of getting hit by the victim. Witnesses told the sheriff's department that the two men had gotten into a physical altercation.

Black's bail originally was one million dollars cash-only, but a judge recently reduced it to $500,000 with 10 percent cash or surety allowed. A counsel status hearing was held Wednesday, Oct. 4.

All suspects are considered innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Clopton Students Learn Fire Safety

"Stop, drop and roll" and "Know two ways out" were the main messages taught to Clopton Elementary students Friday, Oct. 13 by members of the Eolia Community Fire Department. The Eolia Community Fire Department visits Clopton Elementary annually during Fire Safety Week. Students in preschool through fourth grade participated in this important program. After the lesson, students were able to see the gear and equipment used by the firefighters. Pictured are students in Mrs. Kaimann's kindergarten class as they listen to Firefighter Dawson Miller who showed them various equipment used by the firefighters.

BIDS

While disappointed, the Board of Aldermen seem committed to moving forward for the sake of public safety and to reopen that portion of Court Street following the demolition of the brick three-story Rahmeyer building and the two-story Butler building that is better known as the old gas company building.

The city received three bids for the project but will only be able to consider two of them. The bid submitted by a local contractor did not contain all of the necessary paperwork by the deadline. That bid from Mark Ledford was for $1,359. The next lowest bid was for $169,995 from Bricker Excavating out of Quincy, Ill. The last bid was for $170,000 from Roberts Demolition Roll Off out of Center. All three contractors were at the meeting last night. Bricker indicated he would also install a fence around the job site for the duration of the project.

Another company that Orf checked with priced the amount at about $5,500.

The board voted to table a decision until the next board meeting on Monday, Nov. 6.

In other business, the board voted to accept a bid from Chris Lohman of Heartland Forest Consulting. Aldermen also voted to continue a contract for IT services from Devin McClain Consulting for $50 per hour and 50-cents per mile.

New Harmony Church News

Plans are underway for the Annual Lord's Acre Sale to be held at the New Harmony Christian Church on Friday, Nov. 3.

Supper will be served 5-7 p.m., with the auction to immediately follow. Several items will be sold, including a quilt, crafts, holiday items, and baked goods. An added "bonus" this year will be a "buzz haircut" for the man who has received the most monetary votes leading up to that night.

Proceeds from votes cast prior to that evening will be given to the Well Project. A portion of the proceeds from the other auctioned items will also go to the Well Project with the remaining proceeds being used for various projects at the church.

Sixteen young people and several adults enjoyed a lock-in at the church on Friday evening, Oct. 13. This followed their Hayride and Weiner Roast the weekend before. Their next project will be packing shoeboxes for Operation Christmas Child.

The Soup and Bible Study continues on Wednesday evenings. Soup is served at 5:30 p.m., and the Bible Study begins at 6:15 p.m.

A Pastor Appreciation Breakfast/Brunch will be enjoyed following morning worship services on Sunday, Oct. 29.
