Vandalia Historical Society Honors Masulit; Dedication To Teague

BY BRICE CHANDLER
STAFF WRITER

Members of the Vandalia Area Historical Society along with friends and family gathered on Sunday, May 30 to view Audrain County's contribution to the Missouri Bicentennial Quilt. The quilt features a square designed by Vandalia resident Susan Masulit.

Each county in the state along with St. Louis is highlighted with a block on the quilt celebrating Missouri's bicentennial.

According to the Missouri 2021 Bicentennial Alliance, "since the pioneer days of the American Midwest, quilts have been a cornerstone of Missouri culture, fashion, and tradition. In honor of our great state's two-hundred-year anniversary, The State Historical Society of Missouri and Missouri Star Quilt Company, in partnership with the Missouri State Quilters Guild, teamed up to create the Missouri Bicentennial Quilt."

The block designs were chosen by judges according to whether they met criteria, level of creativity and craft, and significance to the respective county.

Afterwards, the gathering shared stories of one of the Vandalia Area Historical Society's charter members, the late Charlene Teague.

Born in Curryville, Teague was a 1944 graduate of Vandalia High School. She moved away from the area with her husband Bill Teague where they co-owned and operated Rebylarch Restaurant and service Station and later owned Charlene's House of Fashion.

After retiring from Reifsteck and Sons, she moved back to Vandalia in 1994 to care for her mother.

Family members and friends told stories of how Teague influenced them before unveiling a plaque dedicating the Genealogical Room in her name.

LaFemme Club Has A Legacy Of Helping

First formed in 1955, the LaFemme Arts Club continues to serve Vandalia with beautification projects such as the hanging baskets decorating Main Street.

They work behind the scenes too by raising money and presenting scholarships to Van-Far graduates since the early days of their inception.

In 1980, the group along with other clubs set to the task of building the North and South Railroad Parks. The members were eager to get their hands dirty building flower beds, planting trees, and creating a beautiful park where residents and visitors could relax.

It was the kind of work the group had become known for throughout the community as they primarily focused on Main and State streets.

Fast forward 40 years, the members of LaFemme who range from their late 60's to mid-'80s are ready to see the North Railroad Park revitalized, although – and understandably – in more of a fundraising and organizing compacity.

Typically, they raise money for the various projects through two major fundraisers. Like so many others, those events were stalled by the pandemic. Despite that setback and with the generous help of the community, the club managed to

The Brief History Of Fort Pike

Fort Pike was the kind of deterrent that often gets overlooked by history, but the short-lived garrison briefly kept Missouri safe during the Black Hawk War.

The primitive block houses surrounded by a barrier made of honed trees was at what is now St. Francisville along the Des Moines River in Clark County. It was built by Pike County men starting on June 10, 1832.

Their leader was Adam Mase, a Kentucky native who came to Pike County in 1819. He was a tanner, turning raw animal hides into leather for a variety of uses.

The proximity of battles between federal troops and the Native leader known as Black Hawk forced Mis-

Clopton School Board Hires Gray As Interim Superintendent

BY BRICE CHANDLER
STAFF WRITER

The Pike County R-III School District has parted ways with Superintendent Mark Harvey. The school board filled the vacancy last Thursday with an interim superintendent, Michael Gray.

Gray retired as the Montgomery County R-II Superintendent last year.

He worked at the home of the Wildcats since 2011 and had previously served as the Bowling Green School District's Superintendent from 2007-2011.

Prior to that, he worked as the superintendent for East Alton School District from 1988-2007 and as a teacher and principal in Illinois.

Due to his retirement, Gray will hold the position until another interim or permanent superintendent is found.

The former superintendent, Mark Harvey, has been at Clopton since 2000.

He served as the elementary school principal until 2010 when he took on the role of superintendent. Prior to working at Clopton, Harvey taught and was an assistant principal at the Ft. Zumwalt School District.

According to Pike R-III School Board President, Christy Kuntz, the board of education and Harvey reached an agreement with respect to the conclusion of his employment with the District.

"It has been my pleasure to serve as superintendent of the Pike County R-III School District for the past eleven years, second in service only to Mr. Joe Henry," Harvey said in a statement he submitted to the school board. "Before being offered the superintendent position, I was able to serve the district as assistant superintendent and elementary principal. Clopton has a great impact on all who have worked here. This is due to the family-like relationships formed with the many great employees, the student body, and the boards of education that have provided an environment where education comes first."

He went on to appreciate the efforts of Grimes, Lagemann, and Hanley on enabling students to be transformed instead of conformed.

"My commitment remains to the continued success of Clopton and to assist in any way necessary going forward," he continued. "During my twenty-one-year career with the district, I have been blessed to have tremendous office support committed to Clopton."

"The Board of Education is excited to begin this journey with Mr. Gray to help us with our day-to-day activities and our search for a permanent superintendent," Kuntz said. "We have confidence in his ability to lead the district and continue to drive forward on our most important priorities."

The People's Tribune will continue to update as more information becomes available.

The Kill List

Pike County Residents Targeted in 1864 Rampage

Editor's note: Following is part one of a story by award-winning print and broadcast journalist, historian and public relations professional Brent Engel of Louisiana.

James Monaghan heard glass breaking and metal crashing.

The Weekly Union editor was walking in downtown Louisiana around 8 a.m., on the otherwise quiet Tuesday of May 24, 1864.

The Kill List, a secretive inventory of 52 Pike County residents targeted for murder because of their alleged Southern sympathies in the Civil War, had just been drawn up.

Because the document apparently has not survived, it isn't clear if the newspaper writer was included. But he certainly opposed its lethal aim, and many on both sides would have loved to silence him and another local editor.

Monaghan strode from the street up the stairs to the Union's second-floor office. He later described seeing six soldiers and a few townspeople ransacking the place. The editor demanded an explanation before ordering them to leave.

Just then, a shot rang out. The bullet missed its mark, but several men pounced on Monaghan and beat him before he was able to escape to a friend's house.

"Presses were broken and thrown out of the windows, type was scattered on the streets and everything was destroyed within reach of the infuriated mob," according to the 1883 book "The History of Pike County, Missouri" Damage was estimated at what today would be almost $17,000.

After a couple of hours, the firebrands took a break and went to the riverfront as the steamer Keokuk docked. Several agitators boarded the St. Louis-bound riverboat, but others remained on the wharf. They still had destruction in mind. This time, the target was the office of A.J.

Reid, the brilliant but cantankerous editor of the Louisiana Journal.

Reid had been combative since taking over the paper in May 1859. Early in the war, he unabashedly supported the Union, but believed President Abraham Lincoln would be ineffective in healing the nation.

Reid's caustic and provocative editorials could irritate pro-Union and pro-Confederate forces alike. Much to the chagrin of Southern supporters, he once suggested that a slave who escaped from a Pike County tobacco farm had made abolition "practical." Another time, the target was peace-at-all-costs Unionists – called "Copperheads" – who were urged to "Crawl to your everlasting holes!"

Just three days before his office was attacked, Reid had offered harsh words for rebel sympathizers while equally criticizing those who sought "under the garb of Unionism to defy

Clarksville VFW, Auxiliary Hold Memorial Day Services

The Memorial Day services were held with Commander Herbert Everett VFW 4610 and Commander Patrick McGuire raising and lowering flag, prayer by Chaplain the Rev. Al Boatman and Pledge of Allegiance and National Anthem sang by everyone in attendance.

The Memorial Day speaker was Owen Whitehead, the Patriot Pen essay winner for VFW 4610 he received fifth place state level.

What Patriotism Means to Me

According to the Dictionary, Patriotism is Devotion and Vigorous support for ones Country. It is a feeling of Pride and Love for our Homeland. True Patriotism has been demonstrated in our great County of America many times throughout our History. The American Revolution is where Patriotism began in America. Many colonist from the Original 13 colonies believed American could be a great country on its own.

They wanted to form an American Government independent of British rule. These strong men were willing to fight and possibly die for this cause. George Washington, Paul Revere and Samuel Adams are only a few of the Famous Patriots during that time. However the list could go on much longer. There are also many Patriots of this time however at this time we do not know their names and what they did. Many Patriots died in places like Fort Henry where the British were determined to bring down the American Flag.

But because of the strong Patriotism shown by these great men our Flag did not fall and the History of American Patriotism began.

Several years later World War 1 and World War II brought a new wave of patriotism throughout America when war was declared many brave people showed their patriotism by signing up to fight the wars.

The knew it was important to defend and protect our country, people who could not fight in the Wars showed patriotism in other ways.

Many priests, and ministers would give patriotic sermons on Sundays. organizations would hold patriotic rallies. People would buy war bonds which would lend money to the government to help support the war and most importantly people supported our government and soldiers with Words and attitudes that showed encouragement and appreciation and love for the the brave people who were willing to fight and possibly die for our country.

Patriotism to me means to continue to defend and protect and love our great country that so many in the past have died for us

It means to encourage and support our troops and their families. It means to stand for the American flag, to say the Pledge of Allegiance with pride and to sing the National Anthem, loudly so that we may honor and thank all the patriots who who fought for the great country we have the privilege to call home.

Wreaths were placed in Memory of Veterans by Commanders of the American Legion and VFW AND Auxiliary President and Youth Group.

TAPS was played by Auxiliary Member Grace Cooke.

The service was attended by several from the Community.

They are hoping to address the back steps into the building, weatherproof around the back door, update the worn signage facing Georgia Street, update the bathroom and kitchen and work on sound issues in the main room.

All proceeds from this fundraiser will go to these projects. For more information or to purchase tickets you can contact the Scout House Committee Chair Tina Chidster at 754-0535.

Branch Manager

A new book at the Mexico Audrain County Library and located at the Farber Branch is Scratch Scratch by Lindsay Currie, published by Source Books Young Readers and catalogued a J Fiction. Claire, a seventh grader, who considers herself a scientist and needs facts and figures to believe she is being followed by the ghost of a young boy. The boy seems to need her help. This can't be, she doesn't believe in ghosts and she has just lost the friendship of her best friend. On Claire's quest to help the ghost she discovers that what had seemed to her so obvious isn't all that is going on. This was an enjoyable read. It was not real scary, included some mystery, mentioned actual Chicago, Ill., history, and had a positive ending. I give the book a 4.5 out of 5. Hope you enjoy reading it too.

The Twin is a fun, easy read – full of suspense, high school drama and family issues. If you enjoy the occasional Lifetime movie, you'll enjoy this book. Identical twins, Ivy and Iris, were separated six years ago when their parents divorced, and Ivy lived with their father and Iris lived with their mother. Now at age 16, their mother has died unexpectedly in an accident, and Iris moves in with her dad and Ivy. Ivy's life soon begins to unravel as Iris becomes popular at their school and good friends with Ivy's friends. Strange events are happening and it appears that Ivy has gone off the deep end in her grief over her mother's death. But is Ivy to blame, or is her twin sister behind it all? As Ivy learns more about Iris and their mother's life, she begins to suspect Iris of more than just sabotaging Ivy's happy life; could she have committed murder? Ivy starts to feel her own life may be in jeopardy the longer her sister is around.

Big, Bold & Beautiful: Owning The Woman God Made You to be talks about empowering yourself to face the world and all its challenges. Do you feel like you don't match up to what the world wants you to be? Kierra Sheard sees you. And she wants to help you identify your goals, talents, and gifts so you can survive and thrive no matter what life throws you. Several chapters spoke to me personally. One especially was finding your tribe. This means to surround yourself with people who are going to be there for you, hold them tight, and cut loose the ones who don't mean you any good. Also, stop comparing yourself to someone else. Be you and it will bring you happiness and fulfillment. I would highly recommend this book to both young adults and adults.

PIKE COUNTY PWSD 1 Public Water System ID Number: MO2024471 2020 Annual Water Quality Report (Consumer Confidence Report)

This report is intended to provide you with important information about your drinking water and the efforts made to provide safe drinking water.

Attorney General
Este informe contiene información muy importante. Tradúzcalo o pregúntele a alguien que lo entienda bien.
(Translated: This report contains very important information. Translate or ask someone who understands this very well.)

What is the source of my water?
The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and groundwater wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Our water comes from the following source(s):
Our drinking water is supplied from another water system through a Consecutive Connection (CC). To find out more about our drinking water sources and additional chemical sampling results, please contact our office at the number provided below.

Source Water Assessment

The Department of Natural Resources conducted a source water assessment to determine the susceptibility of our water source to potential contaminants. This process involved the establishment of source water area delineations for each well or surface water intake and then a contaminant inventory was performed within those delineated areas to assess potential threats to each source. Assessment maps and summary information sheets are available on the internet at <http://drinkingwater.missouri.gov/ewp/ewpforms/pwsaid.htm>. To access the maps for your water system you will need the State-assigned identification code, which is printed at the top of this report. The Source Water Inventory Project maps and information sheets provide a foundation upon which a more comprehensive source water protection plan can be developed.

Why are there contaminants in my water?
Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:
A. Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
B. Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
C. Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential use.
D. Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
E. Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the Department of Natural Resources prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Department of Health regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Is our water system meeting other rules that govern our operations?

The Missouri Department of Natural Resources regulates our water system and requires us to test our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety. Our system has been assigned the identification number MO2024471 for the purpose of tracking our test results. Last year, we tested for a variety of contaminants. The detectable results of these tests are on the following pages of this report. Any violations of state requirements or standards will be further explained later in this report.

How might I become actively involved?

If you would like to observe the decision-making process that affects drinking water quality or if you have any further questions about your drinking water report, please call us at 573-324-3221 to inquire about scheduled meetings or contact persons.

Do I need to take any special precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Terms and Abbreviations

Population: 6555. This is the equivalent residential population served including non-bill paying customers.
90th percentile: For Lead and Copper testing, 10% of test results are above this level and 90% are below this level.

ALL: Action Level, or the concentration of a contaminant which, when exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
HAA5: Haloacetic Acids (mono-, di- and tri-chloroacetic acid, and mono- and di-bromoacetic acid) as a group.
LRAA: Locational Running Annual Average, or the locational average of sample analytical results for samples taken during the previous four calendar quarters.

MCLG: Maximum Contaminant Level Goal, or the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

MCL: Maximum Contaminant Level, or the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

n/d: not detectable at testing limits.
NTU: Nephelometric Turbidity Unit, used to measure cloudiness in drinking water.
ppb: parts per billion or micrograms per liter.
ppm: parts per million or milligrams per liter.

RAC: Running Annual Average, or the average of sample analytical results for samples taken during the previous four calendar quarters.
Range of Results: Shows the lowest and highest levels found during a testing period. If only one sample was taken, then this number equals the Highest Test Result or Highest Value.

SMCL: Secondary Maximum Contaminant Level, or the secondary standards that are non-enforceable guidelines for contaminants and may cause cosmetic effects (such as skin or tooth discoloration) or aesthetic effects (such as taste, odor or color) in drinking water. EPA recommends these standards but does not require water systems to comply.

TT: Treatment Technique, or a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Letter To The Editor

The following message was delivered to the Clopton R-III School Board at the Wednesday, June 2 meeting.

Dear Clopton Patrons:

The actions of this board that have taken place recently are not in the best interest of our students.

Looking back, I have seen one inappropriate incident after another with comments that would indicate the majority of this board has made decisions prior to some board meetings.

These actions range from changing the long-standing board meeting date to suit a board member's sport schedule, to disregarding the superintendent and his administrative staff recommendations on hiring and other important issues.

The most recent issue has been a new board member's request at his second meeting to, once again, change the board meeting night because it will conflict with seven nights of his work schedule. Why would you run for a position on the board knowing you have a conflicting work schedule? The board is now talking about different dates that might be suitable. This is not a casual task like getting together for game night or happy hour at a local hangout, this is serious business. Did he run for office with the assurance from the board that they would change the meeting date for him?

The latest swing of the axe came when a board member's spouse sent a negative text message to the man who has been activities director for seven years. At the next meeting the activities director was replaced, and a new activities director was selected at twice the compensation. Was the former activities director not being paid enough or is the newly hired activities director being paid too much? Was this a pre-planned setup?

This isn't about what is best for this school district, this appears to be about personal agendas, revenge, and egos.

In carrying out their hidden agenda, we have lost one of the best superintendents, if not the best superintendent, Clopton will ever have, because the majority of the board members would not let him do his job and showed him no respect. With the loss of Mr. Harvey, so goes the moral compass of this district.

Mr. Harvey possesses a great mind and good financial understanding and management of funds, and it is important that voters and taxpayers of this district be assured he is leaving this district in strong financial condition.

I stand before you this evening and ask the guilty parties to resign from the board for the good of all.

The Fudge Lady

Woman Known For Confections To Speak At Housing Summit

Vickie Hansen packs freshly-made peanut butter fudge for military personnel. Hansen is one of the speakers at the Tri-State Housing Summit June 10 in Hannibal. More information about attending is available by calling NECAC at 573-324-6622.

It isn't heaven, but it must be pretty close.

A woman who has been making fudge and sending it to military personnel around the world since the Vietnam War will be one of the speakers at the Tri-State Housing Summit Monday, June 10 in Hannibal.

Vickie Hansen was part of the weatherization program administered in 12 Missouri counties by the not-for-profit North East Community Action Corporation (NECAC), which founded the summit in 2005.

"I give the military hope," Hansen said. "A lot of times, they're not appreciated. I let them know 'We do care about you and you're important.'"

Hansen's effort was handed down from her family, which made treats for service people during World War II. Her tiny kitchen is filled with delectable scents 10 hours a day, seven days a week from October to July.

All told, she produces about 42,000 pounds each year. That's right, 21 tons — as much as a fleet of Chevrolet Chevettes, two dozen polar bears or 231 pickup truck beds full of sand. The 71-year-old dynamo claims she's "nothing special," but everyone from privates to generals would disagree.

"My fudge isn't any better than anyone else's, but I put hope and love in it," she said. "I have fun with it."

Hansen creates 23 flavored varieties and 13 that contain alcohol, stirring each batch by hand in an iron skillet. The secret Irish recipe has been in her family for generations and the book in which it's written remains hidden from all but the most trusted visitors.

Of course, Hansen doesn't need a primer. She will acknowledge that every cluster of confectionery bliss starts with three cups of sugar, melted butter and marshmallow cream before other ingredients are added.

Some people tend to slow down as they grow older. Not Hansen. After retiring as a paralegal and a certified nurse's assistant, she found that her fudge output grew.

These days, each shipment to active, inactive or retired military personnel contains 25 pounds. Donations help offset some of the costs, but Hansen pays most of the bill for ingredients and shipping in tin containers or foam coolers. She's gotten as many as 60 telephone calls in a day at all hours with orders or "thank you's." Hansen calls recipients her "kids."

The military is a strong tradition for Hansen. Her father and two of her four children among other relatives served the country.

NECAC Weatherization supplied new windows, upgraded doors and insulation at Hansen's home. The natural gas company Spire provided additional work. "They were fabulous," Hansen said. "They did a great job."

The Housing Summit is open to the public, but seating is limited and reservations are requested. More information is available by calling NECAC at 573-324-6622. Other partners in the event are the Two Rivers Regional Council of Public Officials of Quincy, the Southeast Iowa Regional Planning Commission of Burlington, the Tri-State Development Summit covering 36 regional counties and NeighborWorks America of Washington, D.C.

Hansen says she'll quit making and sending fudge when she's 87. That means a baby born in 2021 will be old enough to drive around the time her iron skillet is finally retired.

"The need is great," she said. "I just love doing it."

defy the law, to gratify personal hate and satiate the meanest passions.”

Though he avoided mentioning The Kill List directly, Reid's words speak to its intent. He called such loyalty “spurious and detestable.”

“And if to denounce lawlessness calls upon our heads the opprobrium of giving comfort to and currying favor with the rebels, we shall only pity the man who so far misunderstands what loyalty is,” Reid charged.

The editor had been pilloried by Lincoln backers for his support of Union Gen. George McClellan in the presidential election that was a little more than five months away.

Reid said his loyalty was “of a higher type than that craven mercenary stuff which induces its possessors to endorse every wrong act” in the name of Union victory. He added that “too many men have appropriated the name of Unionism for base purposes” and were doing little more than trying “to gratify old grudges.”

The Journal missed its regular May 28 publication date, but thanks to “extra exertions” it hit the streets again on June 4. The only apology Reid offered was that he was not “in the most amiable frame of mind” when writing an editorial the day after the destruction.

In it, he put blame squarely upon radicals and said the paper would continue to decry disorder long after the “breeders of mischief” had been “buried in that deep pit of infamy, to which a virtuous and loyal people will justly consign them.”

In addition, Reid defended Monaghan by calling his competitor “a thorough Union man” and said “nothing disloyal has ever appeared in his paper.”

A quick response was issued by another Louisiana paper, the True Flag, which was edited by 25-year-old Union conservative Clay Crittenden Menefee Mayhall.

The rebels “will even have their apologists in the press of our county, as they have already had in times past,” Mayhall wrote. “The records of our county prove that one press in our city is owned either directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, by rebels of well-known dye.”

Journal readers caught up in the drama might have been forgiven for missing a Page 3 blurb in that June 4 edition. It was much more sinister.

Next time: The first killing.

LEGACY

“That’s where we are right now. We’re just want to kind of start over and make it pretty again.”

Along with Jean Barnes, the two members talked about how the club formed and some of its early history within the community. They also explained their plan for tackling the park project.

“We started kind of small but then progressed,” Janie said of LaFemme’s early days. “It’s what we did back then. We formed clubs and worked in the community. The men went to work in town or at the brick plants.”

The club was formed after being sponsored by another, older club that has since diminished. Both women talked of how they were just one of several clubs contributing to Vandalia throughout the years.

Since then, many of their children have moved away from the area and LaFemme like so many other clubs has shrunk to around 12 members.

Others have completely disappeared. It’s a problem echoed throughout the area and the country as clubs and charitable groups face a decline in membership.

“People aren’t really organization-minded anymore,” Jean added.

“We did the flower boxes and got ready for the brick skid, then planted trees in one of the parks – Bradford Pears which now we find out are horrible trees and everybody wants to get rid of them, but that’s another project,” Janie explained as both women browsed through pages of newspaper clippings and various photos collected in the club’s scrapbook.

“We honestly have spent hours and hours in town with our butts in the air,” Jean joked and pointed to one picture of a group of ladies around a bed of tulips. “We planted those near the stop sign. That was beautiful but it’s not as much work as what we’re talking about here.”

They don’t plan on taking on the brunt of manual labor this time. At the previous club meeting, the group decided to move forward.

“We want to tear everything out of both parks, but we’re starting with the North park,” Janie continued. “So, we want to get everything out and we’ve got a man that’s willing to use machinery to get rid of it for us. We’re really tickled about that. It’s quite a project for 80-plus-year-olds,” she laughed. “We’re just to the point where we need help.”

They hope to meet a goal of $1,500 for the project. It’s a modest amount for a park project but at the time of the interview, they had only raised $350.

According to both, club members will be back to fundraising by selling pies at this year’s Prairie Days.

If they can reach the $1,000 threshold, Vandalia residents could see work starting as early as mid-June.

Until then, the LaFemme Arts Club would like to thank the Vandalia Community for their continued support.

If any businesses, organizations, or individuals would like to assist, please drop please drop your donation off at the State Farm office on Highway 54 or send it to LaFemme Arts Club, Carol Johnson, treasurer, 314 Utterback, Vandalia, MO 63382.
