Park Project For Clarksville Fundraiser To Be Held For Park Renovation

The City of Clarksville needs your help to fund park renovations at Bel-Rose Park, adjacent to city hall. The project will include the replacement of aging and deteriorating brick pavers with granite pavers and the installation of stone veneer on the concrete retaining wall. To reduce the cost of this project the Clarksville Antique Center has donated the stone veneer, the Clarksville Parks and Recreation Committee (PARC) has reclaimed granite paver stones, and the city has formed an agreement with the Pike-Lincoln Technical Center (PLTC) and its Building Trades Class for the renovation work. Through these resourceful efforts the cost of the project has been greatly reduced, however, additional funds are needed to pay for materials and supplies. The Parks and Recreation Committee and city have agreed that funding for this project will be through the sales of memory stones. You may purchase a small (7.5 X 3.5"), medium (7.5 X 7.5"), or large (16 X16") granite paver to be engraved with your memory of people, businesses, events, or reflections of the community. Your memories etched in stone will be installed in Bel-Rose park. For as little as $50 you can have a small stone engraved with text and add an image selection for an additional $15. Prices increase from there. The memory stone order forms are available at the Clarksville City Hall, Clarksville Post Office, and by contacting Sue Abel at 573-560-2503. Orders will be taken through the end of June, with the Bel-Rose Park renovations slated to begin in the fall 2025. Any excess funds raised and donations received will be set aside and used for future PARC projects within any of the Clarksville parks.

Pike County Food Service Fees, Fines

On Jan. 1, 2025 the Pike County Health Department implemented new fees and fines for food service. These fines have the potential for impacting food service during festivals, fairs, and/or fundraisers. Anyone wanting to set up a temporary food stand may need a permit. Those permits MUST be applied for at least 2 business days prior to the event. Anyone without a permit will be subject to a fine and the permit fee or they will not be allowed to serve. They highly recommend speaking with our Health Inspector, Stefanie Davis to discuss if a permit is required PRIOR to setting up for food service. This information can also be found on our website. Anyone wanting to open a permanent food establishment is required to apply for the permit 30 days prior to opening or a late fee will incur. This fee must be paid before the establishment can open. These fees and fines can be located on our website <https://pikecountyhealth.org/public-health/food-safety/>. Please call our office for any questions or concerns 573-324-2111.

Eastern MO Family YMCA Gears Up For Exciting Summer Youth Camps

Claborn Named State Star In Ag Placement

The Missouri FFA Association recognized McKenna Lynn Claborn of the Silex FFA Chapter as the state Star in Agricultural Placement at the 97th Missouri FFA Convention. She is the daughter of Shannon and Jessica Claborn of Silex. Her advisors are Elizabeth Kientzy and Sean O'Brien.

State Stars in Agricultural Placement are selected based on outstanding achievement in work experience in an agricultural business as a part of a student's supervised agricultural experience program and active participation. Claborn's supervised agricultural experience program involves employment in agribusiness, finance, and environmental systems. She works at Prairie View Seed, where she assists with crop seed distribution and agronomic services. At Silex Banking Co., she serves as a bank teller, performing customer transactions and managing safety deposit boxes. Claborn also works for a lawn care service, where she maintains landscaping through mowing, trimming, and brush removal.

As an FFA member, Claborn has served as the 1st Vice President of the Area V Association, chapter president, and chapter secretary. She has also held the national champion title for the 2024 Agricultural Issues Forum. In addition to FFA, Claborn is a member of National Honor Society, student council, Future Business Leaders of America, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, yearbook publications, Students Against Drunk Driving, Lincoln County Youth Livestock Board, and Northrad's Youth Group.

The Eastern Missouri Family YMCA is thrilled to announce that Haley Basket has joined the team as the 2025 Summer Youth Camps Coordinator.

Haley brings energy, experience, and a love for sports that will shape a summer filled with fun, fitness, and friendship. A proud Vandalia native and 2022 Van-Far graduate, Haley competed in softball, basketball, and golf throughout high school. She continued her golf career at North Central Missouri College and is now pursuing a degree in sports management at William Woods University while competing in collegiate golf. Haley's passion for youth development shines through in her mission to create inclusive, high-energy programs that encourage confidence, teamwork, and a lifelong love of sports. "I want every child to feel encouraged, regardless of skill level, and to leave the program with new friendships and a love for sports," Haley said. Beginning the week of June 23, the YMCA will offer weekly summer camps for children ages three-eighth grade. Each camp is designed to promote skill development, teamwork, and a healthy, active lifestyle in a fun and supportive environment. Camp offerings include: intro to all sports, basketball, football, speed and agility, softball, volleyball, pickleball, golf camps are open to all youth, and limited space allows for more individualized attention. Registration is open now-May 30. Lunches will be available for all participants through the Summer Food Lunch Program serving from 11:30-12:30 p.m., weekdays. To view the full schedule, visit the Eastern Missouri Family YMCA Facebook page, call, or stop by the YMCA today.

Vandalia Man Faces Felony Charges Following Domestic Assault Arrest

A Vandalia man was arrested earlier this week and is facing felony charges following an alleged domestic assault incident. According to the Audrain County Sheriff's Office, a deputy responded to a call on Monday, April 21, regarding a possible suicidal subject at a residence in Vandalia. Upon arrival, law enforcement made contact with Roswell Hull and a witness who reported that Hull had pulled the hair of a family member after she refused to give him a ride to the store. The deputy stated that when he attempted to place Hull under arrest for domestic assault, he resisted, resulting in a struggle lasting approximately ten minutes before Hull was subdued and handcuffed. Prosecutors have charged Hull with domestic assault in the third degree and resisting or interfering with arrest for a felony, both class E felonies. Court records show that Hull was already on probation for a prior domestic assault conviction earlier this year. The Audrain County Prosecuting Attorney's Office has requested that Hull be held without bond, citing concerns for the safety of the victim and the risk of witness tampering. A bond review hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, April 29 (today) in Audrain County Circuit Court. Individuals charged with a crime are presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty in a court of law.

The Mule Man

Pike County Native Draws World Attention

BY BRENT ENGEL
CONTRIBUTING WRITER
Editor's note: Following is the second part in a story series by contributing writer Brent Engel.

Pike County mule merchant Luke Emerson liked to flaunt his bulging wallet, and it almost got him killed. On the night of Feb. 13, 1889, a drunken Emerson was accosted by two men as he got into a cab on high-end Oxford Street in London. His pockets were stuffed with cash from a mule sale earlier that day. When the thieves tried to take the cash, Emerson shot them. One, William Robinson, died the next day. Emerson was arrested for murder, but claimed self-defense. The incident was "a great shock" to friends and family back home. American newspapers quickly picked up on the story. "As he usually carried a large sum of money with him he went armed, but was regarded as inoffensive," The St. Joseph Herald said. "He had a weakness for drink, but even when under the influence of liquor never developed homicidal tendencies." A week later, the suspect was arraigned at Marlborough Street Police Court and remanded for trial. Details of the shooting weren't the only tidbits the public learned about Emerson. He had left America on the buying trip the previous August after allegedly eloping with an underage girl in Montgomery County. The Standard-Herald of Warrensburg said Emerson was "well known in portions of Missouri as a young man with considerable money and many bad habits." He received many promises of financial and legal assistance. One defender was a brother-in-law, John Wesley Hendrick, who had married Emerson's sister, Elizabeth. Twenty years older than Emerson, Hendrick was a Pike County farm boy who had served as a Union officer during the Civil War and afterward worked as a clerk for state offices, including the Missouri Senate. One biographical book described him as tall, dark-haired and slender, with a "quiet and retiring disposition, occasionally varied by sallies of quaint humor." Another supporter was Circuit Judge Elijah Robinson. Born on a Lincoln County farm on Valentine's Day 1849, he attended Watson Seminary at Ashley and practiced law in Bowling Green and Louisiana. Robinson served two terms as Pike County prosecuting attorney and argued at the Missouri Supreme Court before being elected a judge in 1880. A biography said he showed "the most patient thought and careful study" while being "a good advocate" who was "uninfluenced by prejudices or animosity." Hendrick and Robinson collected glowing testimonials about Emerson's character and cabled them to England. The attestations were needed because of conflicting accounts told by witnesses and Emerson. "Their version of the fatal affray differs from his as night differs from day," the St. Louis Post-Dispatch observed. "At the present moment, things look somewhat dark for him," added the Sedalia Weekly Bazaar. Because British law did not allow the defendant to testify, he had to rely on a couple of heavy-hitting attorneys. One was American and one English. Despite being orphaned before age eight, Thomas MacDonald Waller was not the type to let roadblocks get in his way. When an eye problem kept him out of the Civil War, the young lawyer used his extraordinary speaking skills to recruit soldiers for the Union. Waller served as a state legislator and governor of Connecticut, and was a force in the national Democrat Party. Perhaps because of his years in politics, Waller maintained a vigorous sense of humor, once saying that he worked at his New York City law office five days a week "so that I may live two in Connecticut." The other man on the team was Waddy M. Pone, an eccentric Brit whom the Post called "one of the cleverest cross-examiners and powerful pleaders of the English bar." Emerson "confidently expects to get clear, but people interested in him don't feel so sure of it, and talk about a possible verdict of manslaughter," the Post reported. The trial lasted two days, and Waller's testimony helped convince the jury that the defendant had fired in self-defense. Emerson stayed in England long enough to put 50 more jacks on a boat for America. While remaining controversial, he continued to take things in stride. The Mexico Daily News summed it up. "He may have enemies, but even they must acknowledge that he has done much towards advancing the interests of his county had state, and his friends - those best able to judge of him - say that there are whole hosts of worse fellows in this world than Luke Emerson." Volunteers Ensure 4-H Youths Are 'Beyond Ready' For Leadership, Careers, Life

Missouri 4-H recognizes the dedication of more than 5,700 volunteers who invest their time and energy to mentor and guide young people.

"Missouri 4-H volunteers are the heart of our program, shaping young leaders who are 'Beyond Ready' for the future," said Lupita Fabregas, senior program director for University of Missouri Extension 4-H Youth Development. "Their dedication ensures that youth gain the skills, confidence and resilience needed to succeed in leadership, careers and life."

National Volunteer Appreciation Week, April 20-26, is the perfect time to celebrate the incredible contributions of 4-H volunteers, Fabregas said.

From leading clubs and teaching hands-on skills to supporting county fairs, judging contests and mentoring young people, 4-H volunteers play an invaluable role in youth development, she said. Every hour a volunteer gives directly contributes to equipping young people with life-long skills that prepare them for success.

In the past year alone, Missouri 4-H volunteers donated more than 630,600 hours of service, a contribution to Missouri communities valued at $21.1 million. Their dedication ensures that young people across the state have access to opportunities that shape their futures, Fabregas said.

To honor the exceptional service of 4-H volunteers, the Missouri 4-H Foundation presents the Frank Graham Volunteer Leadership Award and the Naomi Crouch 4-H Volunteer Leadership Award.

The Naomi Crouch 4-H Volunteer Leadership Award recognizes outstanding volunteers and organizations for notable contributions to 4-H youths. Named for Naomi Mohler Crouch, a dedicated advocate for Missouri 4-H, this award celebrates those who continue her legacy of service. This year's recipients: Crystal Burch, Vernon County, Individual.

Michelle Taylor, Henry County, Individual.

The Closet in Edina, Knox County, Organization.

The Frank Graham 4-H Volunteer Leadership Award honors individuals who have made significant contributions to Missouri 4-H. This award recognizes volunteers, educators and supporters whose leadership and dedication have had a lasting impact on 4-H youth development.

This year's honorees: Wendy Guss, Warren County, East Central Region.

Amy Rothemeyer, Gasconade County, East Central Region.

Jaime Aslin, Pike County, Northeast Region.

Kelly Jo Valentine, Putnam County, Northeast Region.

Willie Bagley, Livingston County, Northwest Region.

Rhonda Luther, Ray County, Northwest Region.

Sam Huenefeldt, Cape Girardeau County, Southeast Region.

Christy Cole, Newton County, Southwest Region.

Vicky Taylor, Dade County, Southwest Region.

Melissa Love, St. Charles County, Urban East Region.

Cassidae Pfeiffer, St. Louis County, Urban East Region.

Peggy Ann Eichen, Cooper County, West Central Region.

Cherly Mohr, Bates County, West Central Region.

Missouri 4-H encourages more adults to step up and support 4-H, helping ensure that youths across the state continue to benefit from transformative experiences. Learn more about becoming a 4-H volunteer at 4h.missouri.edu.

Expert Tips On Smart Shopping, Reducing Food Waste

With prices on the rise, families are looking to cut their food bills. Meal planning and smart shopping can help, but you can also make sure to use the more of the food you do pay for, says Tammy Roberts, a registered dietitian and a health and human sciences specialist at University of Missouri Extension. The USDA reports that as much as 40 percent of edible food in the U.S. currently goes to waste, and the average family of four loses an estimated $1,500 per year on wasted food. Roberts is available for media comment at robertstt@missouri.edu or 816-537-7198. Creative planning can help reduce waste and stretch your food dollars, Roberts says. For example, a whole chicken can supply three meals: Roast it for the first meal. Use leftovers for chicken salad or casseroles. Boil the carcass, and use the broth and remaining meat for soup. Find many more tips and strategies in these resources from MU Extension.
